RICHWOOD MAN KILLED, 7 HURT IN 3-CAR CRASH

James L. Miller Meets Death in Traffic Accident North of Marion.

James Lowell Miller, 38, of Richwood was fatally injured early Saturday in a traffic accident on Route 4, three and one-half miles north of Marion, in which two passenger cars and a semi-tractor trailer collided. Seven other persons were injured.

The accident happened about 2:45 a. m. and Mr. Miller died shortly afterwards in an ambulance en route to the City hospital.

Mr. Miller was one of three passengers in an auto driven by Dr. Kenneth Keever, 37, of Richwood. The other two passengers in the Keever car were Mrs. Pauline Keever, 29, wife of Dr. Keever and Mrs. Isabelle Miller, 31, of Richwood, wife of James Lowell Miller. Mrs. Keever suffered lacerations of the head and slight bruises. Mrs. Miller suffered scalp lacerations, abrasions and severe shock. Dr. Keever's injuries included chest bruises, possible rib fractures and severe shock.

Driver of the second car, a 1929 truck, was James Roberts, 16, of 209 Cheney avenue, who received chest injuries, severe shock, and possible rib fractures. A passenger in his auto, Miss Esther Diehl, 15, of 602 East George street, suffered scalp wounds, skin burns, serious abrasions to her arms, legs and face and a severe case of shock.

At noon today reports from the hospital stated that all injured persons were in fair condition. All were taken to the hospital except Miss Diehl.

The semi-tractor was driven by Eddie Stokes, 40, Dayton truck driver, who suffered only minor injuries. The state highway patrol, which arrived at the scene of the accident shortly after 3 a. m. said there was another member of the tractor crew but his name was not known who was slightly injured.

Cars Wrecked

Both the Keever auto and the Roberts machine were demolished. A wrecker from the Scioto Trail Garage hauled the wreckage of the two cars into the city. All the injured persons were taken to Marion City hospital in Hughes ambulances.

According to an account of the accident given to the state highway patrol in its investigation, Dr. Keever, whose car was going south on Route 4, apparently failed to notice the Roberts auto, heading in the same direction and immediately in front. The tractor-trailer, owned by the Kopelove Iron & Metal Co. of Dayton, was coming north.

The Keever machine struck the rear end of the Roberts car and was jolted with such force that it bounced into the side of the tractor. The Roberts car, being of old construction, was demolished merely as a result of being struck from behind by Keever's car.

The tractor was only slightly damaged when the Keever car hit it broadside, but the Richwood machine was demolished.

Native of Richwood

Mr. Miller was born in Richwood 35 years ago and lived there his entire life. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Miller of west of Richwood, two sisters, Mrs. Don Taylor of Richwood and Mrs. Aaron Cassell who lives with her parents west of Richwood, his wife, one daughter, Marilyn, 15, of Richwood.

Mr. Miller was owner of the Miller Market in Richwood. He was active in community organizations being a member of the Richwood Masonic Lodge, the Richwood Methodist church, the Richwood choir, and the Richwood Lions club. He served as president of the Lions club during 1942.

The body was taken from the Marion hospital to Lloyd Winter and Sons funeral home in Richwood where the funeral will be held.

SOVIETS BEGIN KHARKOV DRIVE

Russia's Third Largest City Expected To Get "Pincers" Treatment Next.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 7—Two Russian army groups which outflanked Kharkov from the north in a swift drive through Belgorod, were threatening the rear of the German positions around that third largest city in the Soviet Union today, front line dispatches said.

Descending the valley by way of the Uby river, the Russians raced through Zolochev, a little more than 20 miles northwest to Kharkov in a flank attack similar to the action farther north which drove the Germans from Orel and opened the way for a simultaneous push toward Bryansk.

Both Kharkov and Bryansk, 275 miles to the northwest, were threatened by the broad advance.

Report Smolensk Evacuation

Meanwhile information received from Russian guerrillas behind the German lines today said the Nazis were carrying out a general civilian evacuation of the Smolensk region.

Smolensk, 220 miles west of Moscow and probably the most important German base in all Russia, would be endangered by complete deflation of the Orel salient to the southeast as the Russians already hold positions less than 50 miles to the northwest between Yartsevo and Vyazma.

The information from the partisans said the Germans were moving the population to the west and also taking away all metal and other potential war materials, even the tin roofs of houses.

Dan Smith Wins First Prize of $25 War Bond in Star Carriers' Race.

Dan Smith of 701 Windsor street, with war saving stamp sales amounting to $781.50, won first honors in The Marion Star carriers' contest staged during July as a part of the county's participation in the nationwide war savings stamp drive to raise $150,000,000 for purchase of the mystery aircraft carrier Shangri-La.

Second honors went to Gene Cooper of 518 East Church street, whose sales amounted to $740.20, third to Edward Axthelm of 286 Elm street, with sales amounting to $658.25, and fourth to Robert Tobin of 545 Courtland avenue, with sales of $572.65. First prize was a $25 war bond given by Kline's department store and presented to the winner by Jerry Passen, manager of the store. Second honors was $2.50, third $1.50 and fourth $1. The donor of the awards for the runners-up was anonymous.

All in Stamps

Smith, who turned in 564.50 in sales for the last week of the contest, sold only stamps. His award was a stamp album containing the amount of the war bond in stamps. He is a carrier of Route 81 which covers the south side of the city. Cooper carries Route 33, which is on the east side of the city, Axtheim, No. 67, also has an east side route and Tobin, carrier for Route 63, covers a portion of the south side of the city. The quota set was $1 worth of war savings stamps per month per customer.

In presenting the awards to the winners Mr. Passen praised them for their work and also commended the other carriers for their efforts in making the campaign a success. He told the boys to remember their job of selling stamps in this campaign as a part of their contribution to the war.

Fifty Participate

Fifty of the 85 Star carriers entered the contest, and the month's work totaled $5,589.25. That the boys were in earnest about the campaign was proved by the weekly reports which showed that sales jumped from approximately $250 a week to as high as $1,347.

William M. Collins, circulation manager of The Star, today commended the work done by the carriers and expressed himself as being highly pleased with the result of the campaign.

"BOMB BERLIN" THREAT STIRS PANIC FEARS

Nazis Admit Hitler in Busy Series of Conferences; Evacuees Stampede.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 7 — The German International Information bureau, a propaganda agency, said in a broadcast today that it was "understood in Berlin that a number of important discussions of a military and political nature have taken place in the fuehrer's headquarters the last few days."

This indication from German sources of a rising crisis came as reports filtered to London telling of fears in Berlin approaching a "state of panic" over the possibility of massed air raids on the German capital, serious strikes and German peace demonstrations.

Account of the imminence of major decisions involving Hitler and presumably the whole course of the war was issued to the world on a day that saw speculation on the possibility of a military coup in Germany.

See Possible Fall of Hitler

Included in this speculation were rumors that Hitler might be driven out, both as head of the reich government and as supreme military commander, perhaps to be replaced by some military veteran.

Reuters, the British news service, quoted arrivals in Zurich from Berlin as saying the capital's authorities were at their "wits end to control a mass stampede from the city."

Berliners' fears that their city will be singled out for devastation when autumn nights make longer allied raids possible were reported heightened also, Swedish dispatches said, when the RAF showered leaflets over the capital, warning that Berlin would serve as a sequel to the fate of Hamburg.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels has admitted a par-

U. S. Navy Chief Cites Strategy Centered Around China, Russia

Admiral King Emphasizes Importance of Keeping China In War and Diverting Nazis in Russia.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — Admiral Ernest J. King outlined today an allied world strategy aimed at keeping China in the war against Japan and exerting "every possible effort" to assist Russia by diverting German forces from the Russian front.

The commander in chief of the United States fleet said that in the Pacific area the allies are following a "concerted plan of operations" to put increasing pressure on Japanese communications and also capture strategic positions "which enable us to give the enemy more hell as we go along."

King, a member of the allied high command as well as chief of the fleet, discussed the war in an interview granted on the request of wire service reporters at the Navy department.

He had been asked particularly to discuss the situation in the Pacific on this anniversary of the start of the conquest of Guadalcanal, the first American offensive operation of the war.

The "Grand Strategy"

"Boiled down to its simplest term and oversimplified," King said, "the grand strategy of war in Europe is that Russia has the geographical position and manpower that is paramount in regard to Germany.

"In order to take advantage of that basic fact, two things follow. We must get into Russia all the munitions that we can possibly get in there to implement that manpower and exploit that position.

"It further follows that the allies are bound to exert every possible effort to divert German forces from the Russian front so that Russia can do ever better."

The admiral declared that with regard to the war on Japan the position of China is somewhat analogous to that of Russia in the war on Germany.

Keep China in War

"And it's all too apparent," he added, "what the difficulties are in getting supplies into China. So, one of the most important things most certainly is to keep China in the war. You can imagine what the situation would be if China were out of the war. What a difference it would make if China were in or out of the war. There's the picture right there."

The admiral talked in his office at the Navy department. From time to time he gestured with a cigaret holder on which he frequently puffed and now and again he leaned back in his chair to glance at a map on the wall opposite his desk.

He said that while the principal effort of the allied powers has been exerted against Germany and Italy, the operations in the Pacific to date, in general terms, "are rather more than what are commonly called holding operations because we have a general plan whereby we maintain unremitting pressure on the Japanese wherever they may be got at with the means available."

CITY AWAITS TUESDAY VOTE

Mayoralty Race and Two-Mill School Leavy Feature Primary Election.

One of the quietest city primary campaigns in the history of Marion neared a close today as plans were completed by the Marion county board of elections for Tuesday's voting.

The polls will open at 7:30 a. m. and will close at 7:30 p. m., fast time.

Principal interest centers around the mayoralty race on both tickets and the two-mill school levy.

The school levy, to run two years, is for operating costs. It requires only a majority of the vote to pass, board of election officials said. With the school levy as one of the features of the primary election, it will be necessary to open the polls located in Marion township north and Marion township south, C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections, said. A part of the Marion school district lies in the township outside the city.

Three Democrats are seeking the Democratic nomination for mayor. They are Henry P. Drake of 335 North State street, real estate agent; Clarence W. Luse of 855 Congress street, carpenter, and A. L. Kessler of 442 South Prospect street, roofing contractor.

Harry L. Dowler of 196 South Greenwood street, attorney, and Earle C. Johnson of 380 Monroe street, building contractor, are the candidates for the Republican mayoralty nomination.

Mr. Drake was the Democratic nominee for mayor two years ago. He was defeated by Russell C. Snare, present mayor. Mr. Drake is vice chairman of Selective Service Board No. 2 and is president of the Marion Real Estate board. He is married and has two children.

Mr. Luse is married and has one daughter. He has worked on local construction jobs as a carpenter during the last six years.

Mr. Kessler has been operator of the Superior Roofing Co. at 182 North Main street for 21 years. He is married and is the father of five children.

Mr. Dowler is a member of the law firm of Strelitz, Dowler & Widemann. He is married and the father of three children.

Mr. Johnson, a building contractor, is married and has five children. He is now rounding out his second term as a councilman-at-large.

The only other contests are for council-at-large on both tickets and for the second ward Repub-

KEYSTONE OF ETNA DEFENSES IS CRUMBLED

Hardest-Fought Piece of Sicilian Grounds Taken by U. S. Falls After 5 Days.

By The Associated Press

Field dispatches reported today that hard-fighting American troops had captured the ancient, towered city of Troina after the heaviest artillery barrage of the Sicilian campaign, thereby cracking German keystone defenses on the western flank of Mt. Etna.

On the Sicilian front, allied headquarters announced that the total of axis prisoners was now 125,000. Field reports said the axis front, 175 miles wide on July 20, had shrunk to 45 miles.

The fall of Troina was also announced officially.

Troina, the hardest-fought piece of Sicilian ground to be captured by the Americans, was a breakthrough as important as was the British occupation of Catania.

If the American forces now smashing toward the east coast against the worse than decimated German survivors can reach Randazzo shortly, a large share of axis forces which have been retreating from Mt. Etna's southern slopes along the circular road may be cut off at Randazzo.

Five-Day Battle

The "First Division guys," veterans of Kasserine Pass, El Guettar, Mateur and Bizerte in the Tunisian campaign, doggedly fought their way up the mile high ridge to Troina in a five-day battle against some of the most skilled defensive troops in the world, whose machine-guns and mortars commanded almost every inch of the steep, rocky approaches to their positions.

American infantry, gunners and airmen alike shared the glory of the Troina victory, for the incessant drive was carried on by land and air against key points of the enemy's line.

As they wearily fought their way back toward Messina from all sectors of the Sicilian front, the Germans continued to use demolitions, booby traps and mines with fiendish efficiency.

Randazzo lies 20 miles east of the new American base at Troina, and the little town of Cesaro eight miles northeast must be taken first.

Possible U. S. Strategy

From Cesaro a small side road angles southeastward to Bronte, another important town on the Mt. Etna road. The possibility that the Americans might send one column against Bronte while maintaining the push toward Randazzo was raised by the nature of the inland road system.

A field dispatch reported that Italian soldiers in Biancavilla, 15 miles northwest of Catania and two miles south of Adrano, raised white flags and surrendered yesterday to British Eighth Army units after a heavy air raid.

Troina lies 25 miles below the enemy's northern coastal anchor at San Agata and marked the center of the dwindling axis bridgehead perimeter in northeast Sicily.

Batteries of more than a hundred American 105mm. and 155mm. field guns laid down a series of drum-fire barrages on the ridge town before U. S. troops surged forward to capture it.

An American officer described the battle for Troina as the "most savage" of the campaign as entrenched German troops fought bitterly to save axis forces in the southeast from entrapment.

Take Prison Island

Simultaneously, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced that American naval and military forces had occupied the Italian prison island of Ustica, 40 miles north of fallen Palermo, Sicily's capital, and captured about 100 Italian soldiers and sailors.

Many of the tiny volcanic island's population of 1,100 were said to be destitute, without water and ill of malaria. Captured Italians said the Germans had fled Ustica July 11.

Allied warplanes smashed again at Naples, Italy's chief port, and left huge fires raging at the ferry terminus of San Giovanni on the toe of the Italian boot, while British warships turned their big guns on the Sicilian east coast town of Taormina, halfway between Catania and Messina.

Italian headquarters said Allied fliers also bombed the axis "escape port" at Messina, and hit Naples, Eboli, Battipaglia and Paolo on the Italian mainland, with a total of 54 persons killed and 71 injured.

The Italian communique again spoke of "continued violent fighting" in central Sicily and declared that "new strong enemy attacks launched with great support of artillery and armor were withstood by axis troops."

May Keep Nazis Divided

The fall of Troina threatened to prevent junction of the German 15th Armored Division and

Week-Day Religious Education Fund Drive Will Start Monday

Elmer L. Weimer Chosen by Council of Churches To Head Campaign for $2,500 Budget.

Elmer L. Weimer, Marion insurance agent head, was appointed this week general chairman of a citywide campaign to raise a budget of $2,500 for the purpose of establishing a program of week-day religious education in cooperation with the public schools of Marion this fall. His appointment was made by a committee of the project's sponsor, the Marion County Council of Churches.

Mr. Weimer will be assisted in the campaign by John J. Stafford, president of the Home Federal Savings & Loan association, who will head a special gifts committee and by Rev. E. M. Hertzler of First Church of the Brethren, president of the Council of Churches.

The drive will be opened Monday and continue through Aug. 22. Sunday, Aug. 15, the plan and objectives of the program of the week - day religious education movement will receive special emphasis in each church of the city by representatives selected by the campaign chairman, Mr. Weimer, and contributions will be solicited from membership of the churches.

Details of Program

Details, purposes and benefits of the proposed program are given in the following statement from the Council of Churches.

The program set up for week-day religious education as outlined by the Council of Churches provides that during the coming public school term courses of religious content shall be taught in two of the grades in all of the elementary schools of the city. The Council of Churches, through a special committee, representative of the denominations of the city, will select and employ a qualified teacher, who will meet one period each week with the selected grades throughout the city. Such teacher will have special college and seminary training for this type of religious training. Pupil participation in this program of religious teaching will be entirely voluntary. No pupils will be asked to take these courses, except by the consent of their parents or guardian.

The content of the anticipated courses in Christian teaching will be strictly non-sectarian, but will be centered upon the great fundamental concepts of the Christian religion, such as the character, attributes and providence of God; the life and teachings of Jesus Christ; and those practical principles of Christianity which are essential to the building of noble character and good citizenship.

Other Cities Have It.

Week-day religious education in cooperation with the public schools is a new idea in Marion. However, it is by no means an untried innovation. Such programs have been successfully organized for many years in the larger cities of the state. Marion's neighboring cities, Delaware, Mansfield and Bucyrus have had such instruction for several years and report it very successful. Public

Drama and Action To Feature City's Civilian Defense Show

Final plans for the huge Marion Civilian Defense show at the Marion county fairgrounds Monday night were made at a meeting of civilian defense unit chiefs last night at the control center on North State street.

They checked over the closely-timed schedule of events with W. R. Martin, coordinator of civilian defense, and his assistants, and put the finishing touches on a fast-moving series of activities that officials declared should be both enlightening and entertaining.

For one thing, officials said, the show should show Marion residents just how each civilian defense unit functions and just what part the community can expect the civilian defense organization to play in the event of an emergency.

By way of entertainment, several portions of the show are being planned to put across their message in dramatic fashion.

"Bombing" Scheduled

When Civil Air Patrol units simulate a bombing raid on a shack to be constructed in the centerfield, spectators will get a chance to see just how civilian defense would handle an actual situation of that kind. The bomb will be handled as though it were a delayed action explosive.

There will be some rescue work necessitated, and if present plans are carried through, one of the units will demonstrate just how it would thoroughly bathe a person if he or she were subject to the effects of a gas bomb. Present plans call for Boy Scouts to serve as "victims."

There'll be "Ack Ack"

There will be simulated "ack ack" fired at the planes overhead, while wardens and rescue units do their work around the centerfield building presumed to be under attack.

Later, when the delayed action bomb goes off, there will be plenty of realism because the explosion actually will take place and the building will be enveloped in flames. At this point, firefighting squads and other units will swing into action. Casualties will be given first aid in view of the spectators.

Some of the units will give demonstrations in front of the grandstand.

The show will get under way at

words he told them
troops were occupy-
much of Latvia,
White Russia and west-
that German planes
bombing Murmansk, Smo-
Kiev, Odessa, and Sabas-
and that 'great danger
our country.'

He explained that the Germans had been able to advance because of the sudden, treacherous attack, executed by forces better prepared for war. He explained that the government had previously made its non-aggression pact with Germany to gain a year and a half of peace and time to prepare for war.

Having explained two points which had sorely puzzled the Russians, he went on to tell them what they must do next: realize the terrible danger in which they stood, give everything for the front, harden the rear, and, when forced to retreat, scorch the earth. He ordered them to form guerrilla bands behind the German lines and Popular Guards behind the Red army lines.

He announced that the state committee of defense, of which he himself was head, had taken over full authority, and invoked his own name in calling the people to rally around the party of Lenin and Stalin, and around the Soviet government, so as to render self-sacrificing support to the Red army and Red navy, to annihilate the enemy and secure victory.

The important thing was that Stalin, the man of steel, had taken hold of the war.

A MORE surprising speech came five days later. The correspondents were told, the morning of July 8, that there would be an important broadcast that night at 11 p. m. When they submitted telegrams, warning their offices to be listening at that hour, Nikolai Palgunov, chief of the press department of the foreign commissariat, coyly suggested: "Why not tell them it will be a speech by Litvinov?"

That was a surprise! Litvinov had been in retirement since his replacement by Molotov as foreign commissar just after the May Day celebration of 1939. Periodically, it was rumored abroad that he had been shot, although we in Moscow had seen him from time to time, sitting obscurely in his seat as a Leningrad deputy at the Supreme Soviet, or with his English wife, Ivy Low, at the Bolshoi Theater.

Yet, what was more natural than that he should emerge now. He had been champion of collective security and cooperation with the Western Powers during his career as commissar. He had been shelved when that policy went bankrupt and Russia signed the pact with Germany. Still, he had been carefully wrapped up and kept on ice for another day. That day had come.

His speech had a prophetic note. His main point was this: 'It is all-important that Hitler should not have a moment's respite, that he should be disappointed in his hope of a defacto truce in the west. While his aim is to strike at one adversary at a time, ours should be to strike together, simultaneously, without respite, untiringly. Each blow struck now is ten times as effective, and entails infinitely less expenditure and sacrifice, than if it is delivered when any one of his adversaries become weaker!

The words 'our's' and 'now' were underlined in his original text. The word 'untiringly' was typed 'untimingly,' and corrected in pencil.

Litvinov was to go as ambassador to the United States. The issue of the second front, which his speech raised, was to go on as one of the most controversial of the war.

THE first three weeks of war closed July 12, and it being Saturday, I decided to take a half-day off. Ambassador Steinhardt invited me to the Tarasovka dacha for the afternoon, and there I was an unconscious witness to the aftermath of one of the great political acts of the war.

Sir Stafford Cripps, natty in a costume of white trousers and blue coat, was talking confidentially to Ambassador Steinhardt in a corner when I entered the dacha. John Trant, British consul-general, John Russell, third secertary, and the rest of the staff of the British embassy were all attired in their best suits. Their heads shone from combing, their cheeks from shaving. They were obviously excited.

After the party I rode to Moscow with two RAF officers, one of whom remarked casually that Sir Stafford should be 'sitting on top of the world.' I carried a coded telegram which Ambassador Steinhardt asked me to drop at the telegraph office. Only the next day did I learn what it was all about.

On July 12, Great Britain and the Sovet Union had become allies. An agreement on joint action in the war against Germany had been signed at the Kremlin at 5:15 p. m. that afternoon by Cripps and Molotov.

The pact was arranged in two talks between Cripps and Stalin. It was simply worded, with only two provisions—that the two powers should extend each other mutual aid and not conclude separate peace.

During the ceremony of signature champagne was served, a very good, dry Caucasian champagne—'as dry as a cracker,' as one guest put it. Chocolate bonbons also were passed around, perhaps to show Laurence Cadbury that the Soviets had chocolate of their own. No one touched it. Stalin, looking small and tired, stood with Marshal Boris Shaposhnikov, his principal military adviser and chief of the Red army general staff, and kept peeking up, almost timidly at the former imperial colonel. Then the protocol was brought in, signature, blue ribbons, and red wax seals were affixed, photographs were taken, and the agreement was made.

While the photographs were being taken, John Trant, roly-poly little consul-general who once toured America as an actor and whose favorite pastime was parodying Haile Selassie, stood beside Stalin. He nudged the leader and asked: 'Why don't you sign, too?' Stalin was puzzled, and said, 'That's the foreign comissar's job.' 'I see,' said Trant. 'I have my ambassador sign for me, too.' Stalin did not think this was funny. He looked at Trant, wondering who he was.

The agreement was announced jointly in Moscow and London at 2 p. m., July 13. The Soviet authorities gave the agreement a good press, but it was not swallowed quickly by the public. As it was being announced on the radio, I heard a Russian say: 'I thought we were signing with honest people.' There had been too much anti-British propaganda before the war for the people to be able to make an immediate turn-about.

Sunday Food Service — As Usual

Wartime conditions have required many adjustments in business policies. The "headaches" we consider strictly private; but, in the matter of service we are still "bossed" by our patrons.

Sunday relaxation of our faithful and uncomplaining homemakers—we consider an "essential industry" and feel that the least we can do is contribute our own Sunday leisure to furthering their ease and pleasure.

To that end we will offer again tomorrow, a complete Sunday menu of Turoff selections, embodying the basic 7 food requirements for national nutrition.

TAX FORMS TO BE SENT OUT

Blanks To Be Mailed; Persons on Payroll Deduction Plan Can Ignore Them.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — It will be up to most of an estimated 15,000,000 income tax payers whether their Sept 15 date with the tax collector is to be a real chore or mere annoyance.

That is the deadline for filing the first declaration of estimated income and victory tax required under the new pay-as-you-go act.

Those who net $2,000 or single person earning more than $2,700 a year, married persons with an income of more than $3,500 and persons to whom the 20 per cent withholding levy does not apply, such as doctors, ministers and domestic servants.

Simplified Form

The choice is made possible by the treasury's drive on to use another simplified form, similar in principle to the short-form income tax return introduced two years ago for persons earning up to $3,000. The new short form, however has been broadened to cover taxable incomes up to $10,000.

For those who do not want to accept the treasury's average figure for such allowable deductions as earned income credit, taxes, interest and contributions, more complete forms — similar to those used in making March returns — are available on request.

Regardless of the method chosen, the blank actually to be filed with the collector of internal revenue — form 1040-ES —is only four by eight inches in size, and requires answers to only six questions.

Copies To Be Mailed

Copies of the form together with an instruction sheet which includes the simplified table will be mailed to all taxpayers between Aug. 15 and 20. Some 30,000,000 persons — those whose tax bill will be met by deductions now being made from their paychecks together with the March and June installments they paid —may ignore them.

With the declaration must be a payment of at least one-half the amount of taxes still due above the amount to be withheld. The second half is to be paid Dec. 15, and a final return for 1943, together with another declaration of estimated income tax for 1944, must be filed by next March 15.

Farmers are given until Dec. 15 to file their declarations.

IN LOVING MEMORY

★Of our dear husband and father, Wesley Klingel, who passed away one year ago, Aug. 8, 1942.

In the graveyard, softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly
But whom we could not save.
And when the evening shades are falling
And we are sitting all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If you could only come home.
You shall never be forgotten.
Never shall your memory fade.
Sweetest thoughts will always linger
Around the grave where you are laid

700,000 Home And Victory Gardens Planted in Ohio

Members of the Ohio victory garden committee report more than 700,000 home and victory gardens were planted in the state by June 1. The present work of the committee is a campaign to assist the gardeners in preserving the surplus vegetables so that none will be wasted.

Food preservation groups have been organized in more than 80 counties by July 15. The members of these committees meet with groups of women or organize demonstrations to show methods of canning or drying foods. Help also is given in organizing groups to share mechanical equipment such as pressure cookers and dehydrators.

Community canning centers are quite a popular way of applying food conservation methods. The rural war production training program of the state board of vocational education has approved 10 community canneries where groups of gardeners can make use of mechanical equipment such as is available in high school laboratories or in other teaching centers.

Family canning and food preservation for use in school lunches is being done at the community centers. The food distribution administration will loan canning equipment to groups which will sponsor a community canning center. County extension agents can give information how to contact the county food preservation committees.

Most experienced gardeners have some one in the family who has preserved foods by one or more methods for years, but thousands of the first-year gardeners are just as inexperienced in saving the surplus vegetables as in producing them. By working at a community center, these gardeners can avail themselves of the help of more experienced workers and can use equipment [illegible] to them.

PENSIONERS MEET

The Old Age Pensioners of Marion county met for a business session and program Friday afternoon in the Labor Union hall. The invocation by Rev. Howard Berridge, and the song, "America," and Salute to the Flag by the audience opened the meeting. Reports on recipients were given by T. F. Manhart and William F. Porter. Rev. Berridge, pastor of the Christian Holiness tabernacle, was guest speaker. President Arthur Hershner announced a state meeting of pensioners at Columbus Aug. 25. Music included a song, "Loyalty to Christ," by the choir, "Have Thine Own Way Lord" and "The Engineer's Railway to Heaven," by a trio composed of Mrs. Lillian Loper, Chris Ruth and W. E. Sergent, and "Throw Out the Life Line" and "Song in the Cross" by the choir. It was announced that the membership drive is being continued.

Federal Realty Sale After-War Problem

Biggest single postwar problem confronting the future of the real estate market is the sales of surplus federal property, according to Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The monetary value of federal surplus real estate will probably reach 15 billion dollars, including thousands of plants, 12 million acres of agricultural land, docks, wharves, and several hundred thousand more or less permanent houses too good to be demolished.

Congress is now setting up an important committee to receive recommendations from organized groups preparatory to the orderly marketing and return to civilian use of this vast property holding, some of it already surplus.

OF ANCIENT ORIGIN

Pliny, writing at the beginning of the Christian era, tells of the manufacture of white lead from metallic lead with the aid of vinegar as the corroding agent.

BE CAREFUL

Avoid the use of electric extension cords if possible. If you must use them, be very careful to check often for frayed places.

INK REMOVER

Try salt when ink has been spilled on carpet or rug. Take table salt and sprinkle liberally on the wet ink. Sweep it up as it becomes discolored. Repeat the process until the ink disappears. If ink has dried, dampen salt, rub it like a paste on the spot and remove as it becomes discolored. Repeat application until ink disappears.

DURABLE BROOMS

While fiber brooms may be more expensive than broom corn, they will last longer and wear more evenly. Fiber may be washed, too, or used with water, while water is harmful to broom corn. Keep brooms clean and hang them on hooks when not in use.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES
O. S. U. Extension Floriculturist.

Q. When can Oriental poppies be planted or transplanted?

A. Oriental poppies naturally die down and become dormant during late July and early August. At that time, they may be planted or transplanted just as easily as any other flower. If, however, you wait until the new growth is started in the fall, or attempt to transplant them in the spring, you will be very likely to lose them, unless they have been grown in pots, especially for planting out of a normal season.

Incidentally, if you are considering planting some new Oriental poppies, why not try some of the new and better varieties such as: "Beauty of Livermore," "Joyce," "Lula A. Neely," "Mrs. Perry, Perry's White," "Wurtembergia," or "Wunderkind."

Q. Is the native flowering dogwood satisfactory for shade?

A. The native flowering dogwood gets plenty big enough to make shade, and, in the wild, grows rather easily, although not especially rapidly, however, when we transplant the flowering dogwood to our yards, it all too often is a very poor grower, besides being susceptible to injury by borers.

These boreres are in the trunk near the ground, consequently, the redbud makes a more satisfactory shade tree, than the native dogwood. Planting should be done in the spring and, if very small, a foot or two in height, should have a ball of earth around the roots.

It is always well with any of the flowering or shade trees, to wrap the trunk with burlap or sisalcraft paper from branches down to the ground. this should be put on just as soon as the tree is planted and left for two seasons.

Q. Where can I get some information on the history of gardens?

A. I believe the best source of information on this topic is found in a very fascinating book by Richardson Wright. This book is entitled "The Story of Gardening" and describes gardening from ancient times up to the present, including how gardening began, gardening in ancient Greece, in Rome, through the Renaissance, up until today.

35,000 U. S. HOUSING UNITS UNDER WAY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7 — Approximately 35,000 new housing accomodations for war workers are under development in Ohio, Michigan, West Virginia and Kentucky, and about half that number will be ready for occupancy in three months, the federal public housing authority's regional office announced today.

Regional Director Carleton F. Sharpe, reporting on the first year of operation in the four-state regional office, said 18,000 war workers' families were housed by the FPHA during the past 12 months, and added:

"The production rate is now almost triple that of a year ago. The publicly financed war housing program assigned to these four states consist of 188 projects, to provide more than 60,000 accomodations."

Included in the over-all FPHA program Sharpe continued, are 45,000 units for war workers and their families; 8,600 dormitory units for single persons, and 6,400 trailers, providing housing for immigrant population of about 200,000 persons.

A large majority of the construction is of a temporary nature, the director said, and will be dismantled after the war.

Make It LAST!

Rugs Are Rare

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Writer

All-wool rugs aren't being made any longer. Therefore, this year more than ever, good care should be taken of your rugs. More people are obliged to store their rugs at home, too, because of limited storage space.

The life of your rug depends largely on the way it is treated.

A carpet sweeper should be used daily while the rug is on the floor and a thorough cleaning with a vacuum cleaner should be given once a week.

It is difficult to do a successful rug cleaning job at home, especially where there are gritty soil spots. It is almost impossible to remove all the soap when doing a home cleaning job and if any does remain it will turn rancid. If a rug should shrink it needs a skilled hand for reshaping.

If your rug needs a good cleaning, send it to a reputable cleaner where it will receive experienced attention.

Another important point to remember is the possibility of your rug fading. If the sun streams through your windows be sure to pull down the blinds during the sunny part of the day.

It is a wise investment, too, not to put your rug down unless you give it adequate protection. There are soft mats made to your rug's specifications which when laid underneath the rug will prevent permanent indentations from chairs, pianos and tables.

OIL-FROM-COAL PLANTS URGED

Tests So Satisfactory That Senators Favor More Extensive Experiments.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7 — Demonstration plants for producing oil from coal would provide the basis of a vast new industry which would give jobs to soldiers and war workers in the post-war period, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), said yesterday.

Here to inspect an experimental hydrogenation plant and to witness the process of manufacturing petroleum fuels from coal, O'Mahoney told a press conference results of experiments at the bureau of mines station here "have been so satisfactory that it seems now desirable to extend this experimentation on a larger basis."

The experimental plant was built with a recent $100,000 congressional allotment to determine the worth of construction of commercial plants.

Dr. R. R. Sayers, director of the bureau of mines, told the senators at a public hearing that synthetic fuels had been developed commercially in Germany, Japan and England.

"This country should not wait until the crisis is at hand before launching a synthetic fuels program," he said, adding:

"We cannot consume our oil and have it too. Someday—and that day apparently is not far distant—we shall begin to run short of this vital commodity. And when that time comes the present turmoil and indignation caused by the mere minor inconvenience in the ban on pleasure driving will fade into insignificance."

CLEAN HEATING PLANT

Best time to clean your heating plant is at end of the heating season. The summer shut-down period causes more wear to dirty heating plants than the operating period, because of possible condensation and rusting.

Building Quiz

Q.: I have a homemade red-cedar chest from which part of the finish has been removed; the varnish seems gummy, and where there are knots there is a sort of yellow pitch. How should I refinish this chest?

A.: Remove the finish down to the bare wood and wipe with plenty of turpentine; this will remove whatever pitch, resin or sap may be on the wood. Finish with top quality white shellac or a good brand of liquid wood sealer.

Q.: Lately I noticed water seeping through the concrete floor in my cellar alongside the chimney. It does not seem to come from the street. The water leaks in during the dry as well as rainy weather. There are no water pipes in the vicinity. Can you tell me what to do about it?

A.: I presume the seepage occurs at the point where the chimney joins the floor. If so, try cutting a deep groove into the joint and brush out all loose particles, then park with plastic roof cement, or hot tar, or asphalt.

Q.: We have a brick fireplace that has been painted white. What can we use to remove the paint?

A. You can remove the paint with a solution of trisodium phosphate or washing soda in the proportion of three pounds to the gallon of hot water. Apply liberally, working in small areas, and when the paint film has softened, scrape it off with a broad putty knife or coarse steel wool. To take off the remaining paint, scrub the brick with the same solution. Follow by thorough rinsing with clear water. Protecting all painted and varnished surfaces near the fireplace against splashing.

Q.: I have painted bookcases which I wish to change to blond maple. What is the procedure?

A.: First remove the finish down to the bare wood, then bleach out the color with a prepared wood bleach. You could get this bleach at the better stocked paint stores. Use it according to the directions on the label. Finish with a clear lacquer or white shellac.

Q. Should I use a shingle stain on my wood gutters, or would an asphalt base paint be better?

A.: I presume you have in mind the coating for the inside of the guter. If so, liquid asphalt paint is preferable.

Q. What can I use to remove rust stains from a porcelain bath tub? I have tried steel wool and scouring powder but cannot remove the stains.

A.: Harsh sbrasives should not be used on a porcelain tub for they may injure the enamel beyond repair. Make a paste of scratchless scouring powder and household ammonia or kerosene and put this on over the stains, allowing it to remain long enough to work. Then rub off and rinse. Plumbers sell a special preparation for cleaning porcelain fixtures. You should try it.

VARNISH IMPROVEMENTS

In meeting the highly accelerated demand for varnish, American varnish manufacturers have made many improvements in methods of manufacturing their products, including substitution of hot vapor for flame in cooking the varnish.

CRAWFORD AWAITS LIGHT PRIMARY VOTE

BUCYRUS, Aug. 7—Indicating a quiet primary, only 12 absent voters' ballots were received by the Crawford county board of elections before Friday noon deadline.

The incumbent, Mayor William F. Whiteamire is opposed by Carl Light, present councilman from the Fourth ward; R. L. Hertzer, until recently the county relief director and O. K. Bender, Bucyrus attorney and justice of the peace.

Only two Republicans' names will appear on the ballot, those of Paul Kennedy, city solicitor and Clyde Wilson, candidate for mayor.

Three newcomers are assured of the Democratic nomination for ward councilmen. Joe Kaupp, First ward; Chester Huneke of the Fourth ward and J. C. Hull, Third ward, who will be candidates with incumbent Bruce Sharrock, Second ward. Present councilmen at large, Chester Sharrock, J. R. Kehrer and J. A. Hull will again be candidates. Ed Carter, present Third ward councilman, will seek the nomination for president of council unopposed. A. J. Flickinger, present president, Harry J. Carle and Carl Light are retiring councilmen.

In the county, Galion has one contest, that of first ward councilman, with Ralph Mains and Fred Sautter seeking the Democratic nomination.

At Crestline, seven men are working for the six seats on the Democratic councilmen ticket. Candidates are Walter H. Loffman, M. J. Long, Oscar P. Tracht, C. Elmer Hoffman, Frank E. Zeigler, George Glauer and Howard Foltz. Two Democrats and seeking the nomination for mayor, C. W. Kindinger incumbent and Albert P. Sonner.

Present Types of Plastics Unlikely To Find Wide Use, Plumbers Advised

Plastics in their present form are not likely to find a large field of usefulness in the plumbing industry, according to F. M. Dawson, director, Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, who spoke on "The Use of Plastic Materials in the Plumbing System" at the recent 61st annual convention of the National Association of Master Plumbers in Chicago.

Dawson told the plumbers that "The idea that plastics in their present form will replace various metals used in the plumbing system entirely, or that postwar plumbing equipment will be entirely different owing to plastic developments, does not seem justified by sober examination of the facts involved.

"There are favorable items such as freedom from rusting or corroding but there are inherent weaknesses in plastics which make them suitable only for certain applications." Dawson declared. "The weakest point about plastics is that they lack resistance to heat. Some soften at one temperature and some at another."

Dawson explained that plastic tubing changes in length with an increase or a decrease in temperature. The scientist calls this "a high thermal coefficient of expansion." In plain English, it means that plastic tubing will expand at a high rate when the temperature goes up and correspondingly contract when the temperature goes down.

This characteristic of plastic tubing is a serious disadvantage insofar as its use in the plumbing industry is concerned. If a piece of piping is installed to exact measurement in a building under normal temperature and is afterwards exposed to low temperature, the joints may pull. On the other hand, if the plastic tubing is exposed to high temperature, it may buckle.

Metal pipe and tubing have for many years given very satisfactory service in the plumbing and heating industries under varying conditions of temperature because metal pipe has a low coefficient of expansion. Dawson reports that, on an average, steel pipe expands or contracts only about one-tenth as much as most plastics.

The tensile strength of plastics decreases with increases in temperature. In addition some plastics are quite brittle at low temperatures. Dawson told the plumbers. Thus plastic tubing, if exposed to extremely low temperature, will break under the stress of a disturbance or impact.

Dawson also pointed out that some types of plastic tubing will melt at 310 degrees and therefore fire or excessive heat will impair the usefulness of the material. He also explained the significance of the "rodent test." Laboratory experiments indicate that rats, when starved for water, will chew plastic tubing in order to satisfy their thirst.

A property possessed by plastics, which in general is an advantage so far as use of the material in plumbing system is concerned, is its very low heat conductivity. Some plastics also have very good resistance to oils, acids and alkalies and have therefore many industrial applications.

Piles of Rubble

HAMBURG has been added to the destroyed cities of World war II. Its population has been terrorized and scattered. The German government, fearing a similar fate for Berlin, has ordered its evacuation. Aerial bombing of cities now has exceeded the expectations of all but the most enthusiastic champions of air power.

They are confirmed in their belief that more damage can be perpetrated in a few minutes of "saturation" bombing than was done in the sacking of Rome, Carthage, or Moscow by direct invasion. They are confirmed in their confidence of air power's ability to exact a heavier price for war than any nation can afford to pay.

The piles of rubble that represented great cities are mounting in number, but the war is not over. There is no method yet known to ward off bombers, provided the power behind them is willing to pay the price. There is not even a known way of making the price exorbitant, despite British success against German bombers; Germany undoubtedly would be retaliating with mass raids on Britain today had not its fundamental strategy been altered by the stalemate in Russia.

And still the reduction of cities to rubble is hardly out of the experimental stage. More powerful planes and more destructive bombs must wait on the outcome of the war now in progress. The weapon so powerful that men will not dare to raise it in anger lest they destroy themselves is in sight.

Voting Is Never Unimportant

THOUGH political interest is stirred only mildly by the primary this year, the importance of the occasion can not be judged by the public's lackadaisical attitude. Voting is never unimportant.

More depends on good decisions in this year's primary than has depended on many previous decisions; the candidates selected now will have to deal with the special problems of war and perhaps post-war years. While it may be argued there is no magic in mere numbers, it nevertheless is unfortunate that the turnout at the polls is likely to be small.

In Marion the size of the primary vote probably will be above the general average of cities throughout Ohio because of the proposal for a special two-mill school levy. But even with this added attraction the number of ballots cast is expected to fall considerably below the totals of past primaries when wartime activities were not absorbing the attention of the public and competition for various offices was keen and on a large scale.

This does not mean there is anything wrong with the process of self-government, but it does direct attention to the first necessity of self-government, which is widespread public participation in its affairs.

Mr. Landon Adds His Bit

IN A speech which fortunately didn't get much attention, Alfred M. Landon charges that the "American Fascists" mentioned by Vice President Wallace are all in the New Deal.

Mr. Landon now can join Mr. Wallace in the corner. Whatever an "American Fascist" may be, if there is such a thing, neither political party can claim a monopoly.

When Mr. Wallace introduced the phrase, he obviously was using a tar brush on the opposition; it was his contribution to the Roosevelt administration's smear word vocabulary. The vice president of the United States should be above such tactics. So should a former presidential candidate of the Republican party.

If Messrs. Wallace and Landon haven't anything better to do than call names as their contribution to the discussion of current problems, their cue for the duration should be silence.

Eagle's Wings

PEAK performance and peak production of air power have arrived simultaneously. The United States Army air force alone is receiving approximately 4,500 airplanes a month, it is disclosed. Its planes, with those of the Navy and the Marine Corps, have paced United States performance in the war.

They led the way from Tunisia across the stepping stones of the Mediterranean into Sicily. With British air power they breached the Mediterranean defenses of Hitler-held Europe. Again with British power, United States planes are doing as much damage day by day to German military strength as a land army of major size could hope to do.

Planes are driving the Japanese back from their outposts. Planes have been indispensable in breaking the submarine blockade. The argument over air power that raged between theorists for years has been settled in the only possible way—by proof. There is no argument about air power now, only an argument what it may do to change the shape of the war that proved what air power could do

Clear Understanding Among Allied Powers Is Business Which Can No Longer Be Put Off.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK Aug 7 — In [illegible] of which [illegible] a clear understanding [illegible] great powers is urgent [illegible] can no longer be put off.

To be sure, [illegible] and some 200 [illegible] Berlin, the British-American [illegible] 600 miles. But [illegible] of the German army may be decided not on German soil, or even on Polish [illegible] Russia itself. The [illegible] of Germany to support [illegible] armies in Russia and [illegible] may be determined by British and American air power operating from Britain and from Italy before any of the Allied armies set foot in Germany.

We must be prepared, therefore, for the possibility that at some date this year or next year, which no one can predict, the German people and possible because the German Army has been defeated in Russia and the German economy has been wrecked from the air.

If that happens, we must know in advance and by common agreement where the the converging armies of occupation are to stand, what are to be the principal boundary lines of Germany and her satellites and what political authorities are to be recognized and supported in liberated Europe.

If these questions are not settled before the unconditional surrender of Germany we are risking a state of anarchy or civil war in most of Europe and are taking the awful chance of grave conflict among the United Nations.

The notion that these questions can be left to be settled "after the war is won" and then settled at the "peace conference," is dangerous nonsense.

If we make the Wilsonian error of not preparing a proper and sufficient armistice before hostilities end we shall, as Wilson did, find ourselves trying to make the best of a whole series of accomplished facts or unmanageable disputes when we hope to organize an order of peace and security.

The German question is insoluble of and in itself alone. The moment Messrs. Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt sat down seriously to discuss the settlement of Germany they would find that they had to settle first the position and the role of France and Poland. For Poland stands between Russia and Germany. France stands between the English-speaking nations and Germany.

If, therefore, the president is to get a real agreement with our two great Allies about Germany, he will have to reconsider his view that he can postpone the French and the Polish problems until after Germany has surrendered and has been occupied.

A Polish settlement now is possible. But it requires statesmanship of a high order to reach it. The basic principle is clear enough, I believe. Poland should be made a strong state by giving her, not a corridor, but a sea frontier. Such a strong Poland will then naturally be a firm ally against the revival of the German power because her western frontier against Germany will be more vitally important to Poland and her eastern frontier against Russia.

The French problem is not really a problem in diplomacy. Give the French a recognition that they have their great, and necessary, part to play not only in the fighting of the war but in its settlement, and you have given them a purpose, a dignity, and indispensable work to do. That is the surest way to resolve their discords.

Horse Supply Caught Short

25-Year Decline Aggravated by Emergency.

THE country's shortage of horses is the expected result of a 25-year decline in the American horse population, aggravated by wartime scarcity of tractors and record-breaking farm acreage, explains Business Week.

The shortage will get worse before it can get better. Department of agriculture estimates that last Jan. 1 there were only 401,000 colts under a year old. According to an estimate by the Horse & Mule association of America, which keeps close watch over the equine situation, there should have been 645,000 just to assure replacement of normal death losses.

Census figures for 1940 reveal these facts about locomotion on the nation's farms: 23.9 per cent of farms have neither animal nor mechanical power; 4.5 have only tractors; 18.6 have tractors and horses or mules; 53 have horses or mules but no tractors.

Horse colts, like mule colts, can be raised profitably only as a byproduct of stock kept for farm work, explain Business Week. And even the byproduct is uncertain. Of 100 mares bred, only 60 will produce colts, and of the 60 colts 10 probably will die before they are three years old, the average age for sale.

Other information about the horse situation presented by Business Week is as follows.

Most horses are produced in the midwestern and range states. Eastern and southeastern states use many, but raise few. So, when producing states fall short, as now, a serious shortage impends throughout the country. Ohio, normally one of the principal horse-raising states, this year must buy 16,000 head from other states to replace the normal death loss.

Last year's movement of horses through the public stock yards was 144,632 head, up 23 per cent from 1941 (117,209). In the first three months of 1943, receipts were 52,066 head, 46 per cent more than in the same period last year. This rate, if continued, would bring the year's total movement over the 1937-1941 average of 176,159, but cautious stockmen point out that the first quarter includes part of the year's peak buying season, late March and early April.

Prices have risen 10 to 25 per cent. Last year, $100 would buy "a good serviceable chunk" (trade term for a medium sized farm horse fairly well along in his expected 15-year life span). Now the same horse costs $115 to $120. A five or six-year-old, sound and of good type, brought $150 last year. A pair that could be bought for $275 to $300 last year now costs $350.

Buyers expect this trend to continue.

Predominating breeds on U. S. farms are grade Percherons and Belgians, although there are a good many Clydesdales, Suffolks, and Shires. Recently horse breeders have advocated creating a new "Utility" breed by crossing Arab stallions on Suffolk and Cleveland Bay mares, then inbreeding to fix the type of general purpose horse which is preferred by most farmers.

Three factors popularly supposed to affect the supply of horses have proved negligible. (1) More horsemeat comes from older animals. (2) Thus far, the U. S. Army has bought few, if any, horses. (3) Commercial use of horse-drawn vehicles has increased little.

Hope and Cheer

Bob Hope, the comedian, has become a bridge between America and its fighting men in remote places who don't want to feel forgotten, declares John Steinbeck, writing about the radio top-notcher's service to the fighting forces.

In forgotten outposts the notice that Bob Hope and his troupe are on the way means they will show up and play on the designated day. Steinbeck, describing what he has seen in England, recalls that wherever he went he heard that Bob Hope was coming or had been there. Secretary of War Stimson was on tour at the same time, but it was the comedian who stole the show.

The writer points out the difficulty of being funny in a hospital—"the long aisles of pain... it hurts many of the men to laugh, hurts knitting bones, strains at sutured incisions and yet the laugher is a great medicine."

One scene in a hospital is described. Frances Langford was singing "As Time Goes By." She, too, has worked desperately hard to do her wartime job of making American boys feel remembered. One of them, a lad with a head wound, began to cry. Miss Langford's voice broke, and she ended her song whispering. As she walked out of sight rapidly, before her tears came, Hope stepped into the aisle beside the bed and said seriously: "Fellows, the folks at home are having a terrible time about eggs. They can't get any powdered eggs at all. They've got to use the old-fashioned kind that you break open." The lumps were swallowed and the laughs came. That's Bob Hope.

So They Say—

After the war, millions of hardened and brutalized young men will be still eager to exert their terror against any German who tries to cooperate loyally with the rest of the world. Moreover, the active part of the German people with few exceptions are with Hitler.—Dr. F. W. Foerster, expatriated German educator.

Now I realize what a sap I was when I used to take off for weekends and not take my job seriously in making shells and cylinders. — Former steel worker, now with North Africa forces, writing to former boss at home.

There can be no sound military organization that does not rest on the principle that, in his youth, every able-bodied American should be trained to defend his country. — Brig. Gen. John M Palmer.

Business Relief

New Hampshire, North Carolina and Minnesota are among states acting to ease conditions of distress in which merchants find themselves during the war emergency, the National Association of Assessing Officers reports.

New Hampshire has enacted legislation directing assessors, when assessing the stock in trade of merchants, shopkeepers, tradesmen and so forth until the end of the war to take into consideration any decrease in value due to the fact that normal traffic in such stock in trade has been frozen or restricted by government authority.

Another type of relief is found in the act passed in North Carolina reducing business license fees of different categories of business. A 30 per cent reduction was granted to ice cream manufacturers; 50 per cent to bicycle dealers, household appliance dealers, business machine dealers, soda fountains, music and radio stores, outdoor advertising, securities dealers and tourist camps; 75 per cent to automobile dealers, motorcycle dealers, service stations and motor fuel distributors. The reductions, according to the legislation, are effective from June 1, 1943, until June 1, 1945.

Minnesota's legislation was enacted to ease hardships of automobile dealers whose stocks were frozen by federal regulations; under the new act frozen automobile stocks may be assessed at 5 per cent of full value instead of at the normal ratio of 33 1/3 per cent.

North Carolina enacted another statute this year to ease conditions for new car dealers whose stocks have been frozen by government regulations. The statute permits such stock to be assessed at a reduced valuation according to the discretion of the assessor.

Success Story in Government

By Ovid Martin for Associated Press.

THE principal character in one of America's outstanding success stories — the development of the world's leading livestock industry — has retired.

He is Dr. John R. Mohler, who was chief of the agriculture department's bureau of animal industry, an agency which stands guard over the health of the nation's multi-billion-dollar dairy, feed cattle, hog, sheep, and poultry industry to assure Americans a stable supply of disease-free meat, dairy and poultry products.

Dr. Mohler retired after serving 48 years in the bureau.

A man of commanding personality, 68-year-old Dr. Mohler was able to obtain funds from congress for scientific research programs where secretaries of agriculture often failed. His clipped mustache and restrained goatee were distinguishing personal characteristics.

Perhaps his outstanding achievement was the eradication of bovine tuberculosis, which threatened the milk supply several years ago. This country is also one of the few great nations of the world free of the terrible livestock scourge, foot and mouth disease.

Dr. Mohler sponsored the improvement of domestic animals by research in genetics and the application of scientific knowledge to practical stock breeding. Through his encouragement, the government obtained breeding stock from abroad. He sponsored also an effective nationwide plan of poultry improvement, involving breeding and disease-control.

A lover of horses, he directed the improvement of Morgan horses at an agriculture department farm in Vermont. Many fine specimens, some of which have been used in army horse breeding, have resulted from this project.

In commenting on Dr. Mohler's retirement, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said he had "helped the department of agriculture perform a great service for the people of the United States—a service from which all of us have received many benefits."

Dr. Mohler was a native of Philadelphia. He entered government service as a veterinarian inspector shortly after finishing his college education in 1897.

Vital Ruhr

The London Economist doubts government-inspired reports that British and United States bombers are knocking Germany out of the war by their sustained attacks on the richly productive Ruhr valley.

The Economist points out that all estimates of damage are based on pre-war statistics of Ruhr production. It offers a more up-to-date set of statistics for pre-war production in the Ruhr.

Coal production dropped from 72 per cent of Germany's output in 1927-29 to 60 per cent, says the Economist. Steel dropped from 80 per cent in 1938 to 60 per cent before war started.

Also since 1938, coal and steel production in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and France have been added to the war-making resources of Germany. Furthermore, these operations were being extended inside Germany all the time.

The Economist rates Ruhr-Rhine coal production at no more than 40 per cent of the reich total and believes that if French and Belgian coal production are at 80 per cent of the pre-war rate, the Ruhr-Rhine share may be as low as 33 per cent.

Then It Happened

Office of war information reports the Nazi ministry of propaganda has ordered all literature about Benito Mussolini withdrawn from German libraries and bookshops, especially the kind that draws comparisons between the former premier and Adolf Hitler.

Attention also is directed to a speech by Hitler to the reichstag on Jan. 30, 1939:

"As regards National Socialist Germany," Hitler said, "she is well aware of the fate that awaits her if ever an international power, whatever its motive, should succeed in overcoming Fascist Italy. We realize the consequences that would follow upon such an event and face them unflinchingly."

The utility bags issued to WACS are known as "portable powder rooms."

Women's Rights

Experience with WAC Suggests Dames Should Share Privileges of Being Drafted Like Males

By DAMON RUNYON

JUST as I have been telling you all along, dames will have to be drafted for the army which becomes part of the army of the United States on Sept. 1, or the outfit may turn out to be something of a bust.

Enlistments, according to a press association dispatch from Washington, are less than official hopes. The war department expected to take in 150,000 women by June 30. Only Col. Oveta Culp Hobby reported a membership of 65,000, or 85,000 under expectations.

Moreover, it seems likely that many of the present members will ask for discharge when the original organization drops its auxiliary status and becomes part of the army, because it seems certain technicalities involved in the transfer make it possible for any member of the WAAC to decline to join the WAC.

One reason for the failure of the dames to respond in larger numbers to their country's call is said to be rumors of immorality among the members of the corps, which alarmed parents and prospective recruits, though it has been definitely established that these rumors were lies, probably emanating from enemy sources.

Another reason is said to be the discrimination against enlisted women as compared to commissioned officers and still another the social barriers between commissioned and enlisted ranks, both of which I would say reflect undemocratic processes that make the draft all the more imperative. If women have taken to calling the patronage service on the basis of its social responsibilities, there is no use appealing to their sense of duty. Just grab 'em.

NO DOUBT some parents would have cause to weigh and consider the influences of army life on their young sons when they were drafted and perhaps might have said they did not think it a good thing for little Wilbur, only no one bothered to ask them. The draft took Wilbur right out of their laps and since women demand equal rights with men in everything else, women should share the privilege of being drafted.

Maybe Wilbur, if he is a private, often feels that he would enjoy mingling with his commissioned officers on terms of social equality, especially if Wilbur is in those war areas where the officers have their clubs and may at pleasure toss off a dram of that good old invigorating redeye which is denied poor Wilbur squatting under his cheerless shelter.

As I have said before, there are too many idle women in the land. Too many in the night clubs of the large cities and around the race tracks and other places of idleness. Let me say here as a general reply to the numerous letters I have received, that my remarks do not apply to women who seek a little relaxation from useful work and that I do not judge as a slacherette every female I see judging it up in a grist mill, or cutting a rug in an emporium devoted to the terpsichorean art.

They apply to those who are by nature and practice genteel bums. No one has to tell me how to distinguish the one type from the other. The kind I mean toil not and neither do they spin. They live by the sweat of some poor sucker's brow. They live off a husband's earnings for which they return nothing in the way of a home for him. They live off alimony, or money left them by guys who slaved all their lives for them.

I HAVE only the highest respect and admiration for women who work, whether it is in their homes looking after the comfort of their families or in factories, stores, restaurants or anywhere else. I would not begrudge them the few pleasures in their leisure moments.

But I say all women should be drafted and put through the same sieve as the men to determine their responsibilities, their physical fitness and their essentiality in the work they are now performing and should be put into the army, or deferred, or exempted as the judgment of the draft authorities might decide. Recruiting experiences of the WAC indicate that our ladies are patriotic with reservations.

Pre-Pearl Harbor

By Truman Twill

Things are improved at the Twillery since the announcement that fathers of pre-Pearl Harbor children may be permitted to wear uniforms after next October—if they can stand that much longer.

The family is sizing up the old man with new respect, while they cover the backs of old envelopes with rough calculations of dependency allowances. Uncle Sam is no substitute for the old man, they realize, but he isn't much of a bargain, either.

It never occurred to them before that the only difference between those fancy looking soldiers in the cigaret ads and papa was a decision by someone in Washington. The thought baldness and galloping decrepitude were too much for the old geezer to overcome.

When they leaped from behind doors to clasp the breadwinner in a commando grip guaranteed to break the enemy's back after one easy lesson, they little dreamed they might be training Eisenhower's righthand man. They are sorry now the damage was confined to a cracked rib and some torn ligaments.

They're puzzled about the outcome of the aptitude tests, but they think the head of the family might get by in a squeak as a buck private if he looked sharp. The guy has no special skills—can't cook, can't sew, can't do much of anything but sit around and scratch them. Maybe he could be a sergeant if he studied hard enough.

With a little padding and stuffing in the right places, a brace here and a brace there, a little trick photography and not too close inspection they can imagine papa's picture on the mantel being pointed out to visitors as the absent hero. Naturally, they want a P-38 pilot, but they would settle for a belly gunner on a flying Fortress.

There has been a pickup in demand for a name change, in case the source gets prematurely separated from home base. They've got the kid chinning himself on doors to build up his biceps tone in the hope of bringing on earlier induction. The family down the street has a problem which is going to be hard to take, for the Congressional Medal of Honor will settle the score.

Seriously, it's no kidding matter. The responsibility of the fathers of PPH children is equal to the wars. There isn't a family affected that hasn't cooled down perceptibly. The Kids are worrying for fear it would be the man's luck to get shipped to some nice place, instead of Miami, Fla., where confidently expect to spend next winter. It means lying about the old man's age.

All women in Britain between the ages of 18 and 45—more than 8,500,000—are registered for some form of national service. Those who do not voluntarily enter the auxiliary forces of the army, nursing, civil defense or certain industries, may be ordered into work where the national needs require.

Corn is now being used to make spectacles for aluminum, steel and bronze castings.

LEVY INDORSED BY LABOR UNION BOARD

The executive board of the Marion Central Labor Union indorsed the proposed two-mill school levy which will come before the voters at the primary Tuesday, at a meeting held Tuesday night in the Labor Hall. Indorsement of the levy, which previously had been indorsed by the Marion Federation of Teachers and recommended to the Labor body, was unanimous. Don Wheeler, president of the organization said today.

The education committee of the central body made a further study of the proposal and recommended its endorsement by the executive board, Mr. Wheeler said.

It was brought out during the study that salaries in Marion schools are far below those of other cities in the state and that many teachers are being forced out of the profession because they are unable to meet the increased living costs. Another point discussed was that some school buildings are in need of repairs, which cannot be made with the funds now available.

It was the opinion of the executive board that it was not a matter of whether the taxpayers of Marion could afford an additional few cents per months on their tax bill, but rather can the people afford to jeopardize the future of their children by neglecting their education now, just to save a few cents.

If the schools are to be kept open and properly staffed and maintained, committee and board members decided that an additional levy is the only solution.

A letter has been sent to all local unions affiliated with the central body, urging all members to vote for the levy and to actively support the proposal.

Popular Embassy

LONDON — Dinner invitations to the Argentine embassy are highly prized in London because of the excellent roast beef served there.

This beef is imported under special diplomatic privileges from the rich grasslands of the South American republic.

Even in wartime foreign embassies are allowed to import food and drink in reasonable quantities, but the other embassies do not take much advantage of their privilege, since generally the food situation in their own countries or difficult communications does not admit of much export.

Pastry Flour Blending May Become Necessary

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 — American housewives may not actually be forced to make dough-less pies this winter but they may have to stretch imaginations — and supplies.

Milling circles reported yesterday that despite heavy wheat production and enormous carry-overs, there was a meager amount of the soft red winter wheat used in making flour for pies and cakes.

The only solution, millers say, is to blend hard grains with soft to produce a flour which may result in a tougher, but still satisfactory, pie crust.

To The Voters of Marion

SEVERAL THINGS:

Just so long as the Voters of Marion put up with it they will have:

A "Makeshift" hospital;
Cow pastures, without cows, for city parks,
Streets that are not cleaned,
Sewers, catch basins and public buildings neglected.

More About Sunday Emergency Work:

There never was a need for city employes to work on Sunday, except very rare occasions. The boys were sent home on Saturdays when they wanted to work, and there was plenty to do. The only excuse now for Sunday work is just poor management, or no management at all, of city affairs. If the Safety-Service Director knows of no other way to get this work done, I do. Get a new Safety-Service Director.

Democratic Candidate
for MAYOR

Owner and operator of the Superior Roofing Co. Formerly affiliated with B. of R. T., B. of L. F. and E. and American Roofers Unions. Experienced in employment of men and purchasing of materials and of good sound business judgment. I am personally interested in seeing Marion a desirable city in which to live.

Marion, for many years, has had a mayor with a definite program. Consequently, in looking back for the last twelve years, no worth while improvements or advantages have been made in the City. Even during the W. P. A. period, no worth while projects were taken up and carried to completion, even when men needed employment and the Federal Government were willing to complete a considerable part for the cost.

I realize that public office is a public trust and that any one who accepts the position of mayor, should do so with a firm determination that the welfare of Marion come first.

If elected Mayor, I will work in harmony with the other officials and employes of Marion. I insist on courteous treatment to the public and will endeavor, at all times, to satisfy all legitimate public demands. Men, even of different politics, can work together, when realizing as they will, that the sole purpose of the mayor of the city is to bring about improved conditions for the City. Finally, I will devote to the office of Mayor such time as is necessary to bring about a successful and practical administration of City affairs and will have regular hours at my office so that other city officials and employes and the public in general may have an opportunity to advise with me on matters of public moment touching on the welfare of the City. A mayor who does not do this much is setting a poor example for other city employes to do their full duty.

All over of the candidates for Mayor I will appreciate your support and I pledge to serve faithfully.

TROINA

Herman Goering division in their retreat toward Messina.

(Field reports Tuesday said Troina was taken, but the Americans had been able only to win toeholds near the town in the face of the stern German opposition.)

The Sicilian front now is only 45 miles wide.

The British Eighth Army advanced on all sectors, threatening the communications town of Adrano, 14 miles southeast of Troina on the main road skirting Mt. Etna.

The Germans, apparently using Troina as a shield to cover withdrawal of their forces from the south and central sectors around Mt. Etna staged one of their bitterest defenses there.

Bombers Pound Messina

Allied airplanes paced by heavy bombers struck Messina yesterday with the most concentrated assault yet attempted during the Sicilian campaign.

Approximately 350 tons of bombs were poured on the small strip of territory around Messina. The huge concentration of enemy anti-aircraft guns about the port—described as rivalling the defenses of the Ruhr area of Germany—offered "considerably less fire" yesterday, returning airmen said, and no enemy planes were sighted.

Other allied planes ranged over the narrowing Messina bridgehead, pounding road communications and supply centers around Mt. Etna and strafing evacuation beaches of the coast.

No Italian troops were reported fighting anywhere on the Sicilian front.

The powerful sledgehammer drives by the Americans and British again cracked the dwindling bridgehead still held by the enemy and with the allied air force pounding enemy roads and beaches by day and night, the Germans were in precarious position.

WORKERS ASSURED FOR OHIO CANNERIES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7—Ohio canneries which had difficulty in processing last year's bumper crops have been assured sufficient help this season to pack war-vital food.

The U. S. Employment Service, state defense council and Ohio American Legion have joined in a correlated campaign to obtain workers in sufficient numbers to prevent waste of the smaller 1943 yields of vegetables which start moving to canneries in quantity next week.

Wade Hammond, Ohio U. S. E. S. director, said the work of obtaining full and part-time help for canneries had been organized on a community, instead of statewide basis as formerly, to avoid such critical problems as housing and the like.

Need 16,000 Workers

He explained that more than 16,000 cannery workers would be needed during the height of the August-October season, 10,000 of them women. Most of the canneries are located in the northern and northwestern portions of the state.

"The jobs will be waiting for the volunteers when they are called so they won't lose time and change their minds about working," Hammond asserted.

Martin V. Coffey, Ohio Legion commander, said most of the 600 posts in the state were prepared to furnish volunteer workers.

"The Legion is performing a patriotic service in setting up its organization so that it can provide us with the labor we need, when it is needed, so that no crops will be lost in Ohio this summer," Hammond said.

Using Block Organizations

Ralph H. Stone, executive director of the state defense council, said block organizations were recruiting volunteers in preparation for the seasonal rush.

Men, women, boys and girls, 16 or older, are signing up, he said. Previous experience is not necessary and workers will be paid prevailing wage rates, he added.

Block leaders have been instructed to organize child care them with competent persons centers so that parents can leave while working in canneries.

The canning season will reach its peak the last of this month and the first week in September when 80 concerns are expected to be in full operation.

OPA TO ACT ON LIQUOR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — The office of price administration will issue over the week-end a new regulation governing retail liquor prices, it was learned today. The regulation is expected to result in some reductions from present prices.

BUY MORE BONDS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An investment of $370 in War Bonds will pay for 17 surgical beds for wounded soldiers.

White Market Is Cleveland Plan of Handling Produce

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7 — The Farmers' club of Cleveland's Chamber of Commerce offers a new wartime food market to combat the black variety—a white market.

Organized to discourage clandestine deals in fruits and vegetables, the white market seeks to provide growers in the Cleveland district with regular outlets at considerable saving to the consumer.

"Primary object of the white market plan its to conserve within the Cleveland area the food raised here," Farmers' club Secretary Charles A. Thomas explained.

"It is reported some crops already have been lost because of labor shortage and many more crops, for a like reason, cannot be disposed of profitably through the regular marketing channels."

The plan provides that buyers harvest their own purchases with consent and under supervision of the Farmers' club and that sale of ungraded fruits and vegetables by the grower be conducted on a run of the crop basis. Rules for white market procedure include:

Producers with surpluses to furnish the Farmers' club with information of places and quantities of food available; the club to establish minimum quantities of any article to be publicized; buyers to go to addresses furnished daily with published notices valid only 24 hours; buyers to carry their own containers; licensed hucksters and peddlers to be sold food as well as individual buyers.

BERLIN

tual evacuation of Berlin. Reuters also quoted reports heard in Istanbul that the Germans were preparing to proclaim Berlin an open city.

The Zurich Die Weltwoche said strikers demanding peace had piled new burdens upon Germany's already over-taxed war industries, that workers in some factories in Austria had refused to work and their action had been followed in Stuttgart and Berlin factories.

The collapse of Benito Mussolini and his Fascist regime has struck German morale with the weight of a "political Stalingrad," whose final effects on the axis may be much more important than has yet been indicated, said Die Weltwoche.

Both Goebbels and Reichsmarshal Herman Goering were reported in Hamburg today. Before he left Berlin Goebbels made a final attempt to allay the fears of the Berliners with assurances that Berlin anti-aircraft defenses have been strengthened and that the reich high command is preparing massive counter air blows against Britain.

Dual Triumph of Soviet Army May Hasten European Invasion

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Red armys double-barreled triumph in the capture of the strategic cities of Orel and Belgorod — a stupendous feat which threatens the security of Hitler's entire thousand mile line in Russia — might rapidly develop into a situation which would produce the "second front" for which the Muscovites are again begging.

The loss of these two heavily fortified railway centers is a major defeat for the Nazis as it now stands. Whether it will develop into a catastrophe depends on what reserve strength the Russians have with which to follow up their successes.

Latest reports show the Reds smashing forward with great striking power to capitalize the capture of the two key positions. Should the Nazis lose much more ground in these vital sectors, their high command would be compelled to withdraw their entire right wing, now anchored on the Sea of Azov, west of Rostov. This in turn would force an adjustment of the rest of the front clear to Leningrad. If the Germans are compelled to retreat, they likely will fall back in the first instance to the line of the Dnieper river.

May Become Rout

A withdrawal of this magnitude, under heavy enemy pressure, is one of the most difficult and dangerous operations in war. It could easily be turned into a rout.

Thus we have on the eastern front the most favorable situation which has existed since the Russo-German war began. Obviously it's crying out for allied development to the limit of our resources.

It is with this thought in mind that the Soviet publication, "War and the Working Classes," again urges the establishment of a second front in Europe — and that means a front in France. The paper declares that such a front would "be the key to victory over Hitler in 1943."

This great Russian success, coupled with the rapid progress of the allied operations in Sicily, is calculated to cause the allied command to check immediately whether now is the moment for the great adventure of landing an army in France. That might not fit in with current plans, but it seems likely that the allied program is flexible enough (due to the smoothness with which things have been going in the Mediterranean theater) so that a quick change could be made.

Softened by Bombs

One circumstance which might favor an invasion of France in the near future is the happy state of the allied campaign of the Anglo-American air forces over a long period would indicate that much attention has been paid to "invasion points," quite apart from the big industrial centers and communications.

There is no doubt that we are at a crucial moment of the war, every day from now on through the summer will be one of thrills —and anxiety. Perhaps the greatest decision to be made in this fateful period is that before the allied high command—where shall we go after Sicily.

TWO INJURED IN BUS-AUTO CRASH

Youth Seriously Hurt in Accident Near Galion.

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 7—A Perrysville youth was brought in serious condition to Galion City hospital and one of three companions is also in the hospital after two automobiles and a Greyhound bus figured in a collision here about 1 a. m. today. Galion and Iberia residents, occupants of one of the cars, were treated for shock and bruises at the hospital.

Melvin Coulter, 18, driving a car belonging to Orie Rush of Mansfield and going east, suffered a compound fracture of the skull and amputated left arm below the shoulder when he attempted to go around the bus and crashed almost headon into a westbound car, driven by Eugene Crim of west of Galion, authorities reported. Driving east on route 30-S just outside the east city limits here, Coulter sideswiped the the bus, also going east, before the collision with the Crim auto.

The highway patrol out of Mansfield investigated the accident.

Riding with Coulter were Rush, Miss Louise Knipp of Mansfield, who suffered a back injury, and Miss Margaret Porter of Mansfield. In the car with Crim were Miss Bernice Whitemire of Galion and Miss Virginia Stonemier of Iberia. All except Coulter and Miss Knipp were released from the hospital after treatment for cuts and bruises. Both cars were badly damaged. Sideswiping of the bus tore a hole in the left side of the vehicle which continued east after the wreckage of the cars was cleared.

WPB May Release Some Alcohol for Beverages

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Limited diversion of alcohol production to beverage uses is "definitely under consideration," officials of the chemical division of the war producton board (WPB) said today.

All alcohol production, both industrial and beverage, was turned into war chemistry channels last November. Since then, warehoues supplies of beverage alcohol have been depleted, and the beverage distilling industry has requested that a percentage of total production be diverted to replenish beverage stocks.

U. S. AIRMEN IN CHINA OUTSCORE JAPS 9-1

By The Associated Press

KUNMING, Aug. 6—(Delayed)—The score stands at 9 to 1 in favor of Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's 14th American air force in the matter of enemy planes defintiely destroyed at the end of 13 months of operations in China, it was announced today.

This ratio does not include 166 Japanese planes claimed as probably destroyed in aerial combat.

The figures were released at the headquarters of the 14th U. S. A. A. F. on the comparative enemy and American losses from July 4, 1942, when the United States took over from the American volunteer group to last Aug. 4.

In a press conference, Chennault announced that the total enemy shipping sunk by the 14th Air Force during July was 41,000 tons with another 35,000 tons damaged. Reliable reports confirmed the sinking of a 7,000 ton Japanese freighter at Haipong in the July 10 raid, he said.

WOULD BOOST FOOD OUTPUT WITH PRICES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Government support of agricultural prices to encourage maximum food production was proposed today by Senator Aiken, Republican of Vermont, an outspoken critic of the administration's rollback subsidy program.

Back from talks with farmers in his home state, Aiken told reporters he was convinced that a support price program such as already has been applied to potatoes and pork be made to work for all major farm commodities.

"A support price, based on the cost of production, produces the goods and that's what we want," Aiken declared. He added it was his opinion that the volume of production which would be obtained under such a program would eliminate the possibility of sky-rocketing food prices.

As an illustration, the Vermonter said the government's action in guaranteeing a fixed price to producers had boosted the supply of potatoes and pork to record levels. On the other hand, he said attempts to roll back the prices of beef and butter by the payment of subsidies to processors had resulted in decreased production.

County Golf Opening Play Set

Qualifying in Annual Tournament Scheduled To Start Sunday; First Round Scheduled Aug. 22.

Opening date for first round play in the fifth annual Marion county golf tournament has been scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 22 by the county golf committee composed of five members of the Y's Men's Service club.

At a meeting of the committee at the Y. M. C. A. last night, this date and other preliminary plans for this year's county event were determined. Qualifying for the tournament, which will be held at the Mar-O-Del public course, will get under way tomorrow and must be completed by Wednesday, Aug. 18.

Golfers may qualify at either the Mar-O-Del course or the Marion Country club, where the tourney was played last season.

An entry fee of $2.50, the same as charged last year, must be paid by each linksman before he posts his qualifying score.

Entry tickets may be purchased at either course or at the Y. M. C. A.

A cup, given by the Marion Star each year since the inception of the tourney five years ago, will be awarded as usual to the winner of the first flight, Bob Owens, who won the tourney last year, is now in the Navy and will not be present to defend his crown. He won only temporary possession of the cup last year.

Before permanent possession of the trophy can be secured, the first flight title must be captured three years straight.

Other prizes will also be presented to the runner-up in the first flight, the first and second place finishers in the other flights, and the golfer who fires low medal in qualifying shooting.

The number of flights for this year's tourney will not be established by the committee until a reasonable idea of how many golfers will enter is obtained.

Money for the awards other than the Star cup will be obtained from the entry charges, the committee decided.

The county golf committee for this year is composed of Harold Henry as chairman and William Fealy, Kenneth Fields, Marion Hinklin and Kenneth Stants. This group was appointed at the weekly meeting of the Y's Men's club at the Y Wednesday night.

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA—An entertainment unit of American and Australian servicemen is packing 'em in every night at jungle "theaters" here. Included in the cast are First Lieut. So Mrs. Howard Robbins of Exter packed a box of fresh green maple leaves and sent it to the soldier via Hawaii. She hopes it will reach him in good condition and that he will be pleased.

CONTRACTS PULLED FROM SEATTLE AREA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — A drastic cancellation of Army contracts in the Seattle area has been ordered by the war department, D. C. Speaker said today, to give the Boeing Aircraft company an opportunity to recruit workers to get the lagging production of Flying Fortresses back on schedule.

No other means was found to correct the situation immediately, Speaker said, when the output of the heavy bombers, occupying a top priority rating in war plans, fell behind monthly production forecasts by 20 several weeks ago.

"The Seattle area is one of critical labor shortage," Speaker pointed out, "and as Boeing's inability to get replacement workers continued, under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson took the extraordinary step of transferring all possible Army production except the badly needed planes to other areas.

Speaker said he understood that production has lagged behind forecasts to a limited extent at plants other than Boeing, but so far as he knew the Seattle situation was the only one considered serious enough to warrant the action taken by Patterson.

POPE URGES WORLD PRAYER FOR PEACE

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 7 — Roman Catholics throughout the world and the people of Italy in particular have been called upon by Pope Pius XII to turn to God "in penitence and prayer" that peace might be brought to the world.

In a letter to Luigi Cardinal Maglioni, papal secretary of state, the Pontiff said that "we who carry in our soul the sorrow and anxiety of all shall not leave anything untried to substitute hatred with charity and struggle and victory with the serenity of peace."

The Pope's action came in the midst of warlike utterances by Premier Pietro Badoglio and while Italy's hopes of avoiding ultimate surrender to the allies were fading on the battlefields of Russia and Sicily and in the bomb-shattered cities of Germany.

Typical of Badoglio's new militaristic propaganda line was a broadcast from Rome this morning that "a large number of lads under military age have asked to be allowed to join the army as volunteers." The broadcast was heard by the ministry of information here.

UNIFICATION NEAR FOR MANY AGENCIES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—President Roosevelt having issued the license, the budget bureau has been directed to arrange for the mass marriage of the many federal agencies handling economic warfare.

Leo T. Crowley, new economic warfare chief, ordered the budget study and was said today to be awaiting a report before determining the extent of reorganization needed to bring about a revitalized setup for this type of work. The investigation is expected to take from 45 to 60 days.

Deputy Selected

Crowley, the multi-officeholder from the President picked several weeks ago to direct a newly consolidated Office of Economic Warfare (OEW), made up of agencies formerly managed by Vice President Wallace and Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, has selected a deputy to take over the day-to-day running of OEW and is awaiting final acceptance before announcing the appointment.

Whoever he is will move into the key job vacated by Milo Perkins, former Texas jute bag manufacturer, whose tenure as executive director of the old board of economic warfare (BEW) was ended by the President's reorganized order.

Whatever changes in the administrative machinery will accrue from the budget study, it is likely they will involve a cut in foreign personnel if duplication of effort is found, one official said.

BEW Had 3,500

He placed the total personnel of the old BEW at around 3,500, of whom 400 are outside the United States. This is exclusive of about 900 native laborers abroad engaged in checking the quality of materials purchased by the United States.

The new OEW also will consist of the entire personnel of four RFC subsidiaries — the United States Commercial Co., Rubber Development Corp., Petroleum Development Corp., and Export-Import Bank — and that portion of the personnel of two other subsidiaries — Metals Reserve Co. and Defense Supplies Corp. —engaged in foreign purchase work.

Governor Contest Holds Kentucky Spotlight

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 7—Kentuckians started trickling to the polls early today to vote on whether they want a continuation of the Chandler-Johnson administration, originating in 1935 with the election of A. B. (Happy) Chandler as governor and in effect now under Gov. Keen Johnson.

Both Democrats and Republicans are holding primaries to vote on all state offices and a number of lesser posts, but the political spotlight has been focused on the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

J. Lyter Donaldson, Carrollton former state highway commissioner, who carries the indorsement of the Johnson administration has met his main opposition from two other Democratic aspirants, Ben Kilgore, St. Matthews, and Rodes K. Myers, Bowling Green, both of whom have attacked Donaldson as "the crown prince" of the administration and one who would perpetuate "a vicious political machine."

SICILY DIRECTOR. Prof. Wesley A. Sturges (above) of Yale university has been appointed by the state department as area director for American civilian affairs in liberated Sicily.

Halsey Promises To Carry the War To Jap Mainland

By The Associated Press

NAVAL HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Sunday, Aug. 7—Admiral William F. Halsey Jr. on the first anniversary of the beginning of the battle for the South Pacific, promised today that the United States will carry the war into Japan itself.

"We will destroy the enemy," Halsey told a press conference. "We shall push forward until the battle of the South Pacific becomes the battle of Japan.

"We have learned by grim and bloody experience the best manner in which to deal with the crafty foe, who appears desperately determined to resist until he is destroyed."

The commander-in-chief of naval forces in this war theater said the United States is entering the second year of the South Pacific campaign "with every confidence in ultimate victory."

"We view what lies ahead with the satisfaction that comes from having thus far soundly beaten a powerful enemy in every phase of air and sea warfare," he continued.

"In the past we have often fought against forces that greatly outnumbered our own. Now our forces are stronger than at any time since we first began the bitter task of driving the Jap out of the lands he seized when our allied might was unorganized and unready for a major conflict.

As Halsey spoke, dispatches from South Pacific headquarters said U. S. Army Engineers and Navy Seabees were rushing repairs to the battered airdrome of newly-captured Munda, in the central Solomons, for use in coming operations against the great Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain, 420 miles to the north.

Next Task

With the fall of Munda, the next immediate task for American forces was said to be the capture of Vila airfield on Kolombangara island, nine miles north of Munda.

Meanwhile, U. S. fighter planes, out-numbered nearly two to one, soundly thrashed a formation of 30 Japanese Zeros in a battle of southern Bougainville island in the northern Solomons, shooting down seven enemy planes against a loss of one.

Allied bombers, escorted by fighters, blasted the enemy floatplane base at Rekata bay, on Santa Isabel island northwest of Munda, dropping 65 tons of explosives. An axis broadcast said 127 U. S. bombers raided the islands in daylight yesterday.

Pincers Move Looms

A Red army war communique, which indicated there was to be no letup in the initiative seized from the German army on July 12, summarized the month of fighting with figures showing the German's ill-starred attempt to erase the Kursk salient had cost them 120,000 dead, and the destruction of 4,606 tanks, 11,000 trucks, 2,492 planes and 1,623 guns.

St. Louis Cards End Rip Sewell's 11-Game Winning Streak by Overcoming Pittsburgh 8 to 3

The Associated Press

Rip Sewell's 11-game winning streak for the Pittsburgh Pirates ended abruptly last night as the first place St. Louis Cardinals pounded out an 8 to 3 triumph.

The 35-year-old Sewell and his tantalizing slow ball had handicuffed National League hitters since June 9 when he lost a 4 to 3 game to the Cards at Sportmens park.

His bid for his 12th victory came to grief through the batting of Stan Musial and Ray Sanders, backing up Max Lanier's five-hit pitching. Musial league-leading sweetheart, whacked four hits in four times at bat while Sanders drove in five runs with a double and triple.

Still Heads Hurlers

Although beaten, Sewell remains the standout twirler in the majors with a record of 17 triumphs against three defeats.

Cincinnati climbed within 1½ games of the second place Pirates by again beating the Cubs, 9 to 7. The Reds piled up a big lead, but Ray Starr and Clyde Shoun couldn't hold it and had to call on Joe Beggs to stamp out a ninth inning Cub rally.

The New York Yankees started a long road trip by taking a 4-0 shutout at the hands of Roger Wolff knuckle ball artist of the Athletics.

Holds Tribe to 2 Hits

Johnny Niggeling of the St Louis Browns held Cleveland to only two hits, but dropped a tough 1 to 0 decision to Allie Reynolds, who twirled a three-hitter. Niggeling made the mistake of hitting Oris Hockett with a pitched ball in the fourth. Roy Cullenbine singled Hockett to third, from where he scored as Jeff Heath hit into a double play.

Detroit handed Orval Grove of the White Sox his second defeat of the year, 6 to 0, as Rudy York socked his 15th homer of the season. Dutch Leonard won his eighth game in pitching Washington to a 4 to 2 victory over the Boston Red Sox. The Phillies beat the New York Giants, 7 to 4, by virtue of Ron Northey's two homers and Bill Lee's relief pitching.

Reds Within Reach of Second Place

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 7—The Cincinnati Reds were within an easy glance of the second-place Pittsburg Pirates today but they needed a powerful set of binoculars to get anything more than a glimpse of the pace setting St. Louis Cardinals.

The Reds not only won their game against the Cubs yesterday, 9 to 7, but pulled up a half-game closer to second place when the Cardinals slapped the Pirates and Rip Sewell 8 to 3 in a night contest. But the Cards are still 13½ games in front of the Reds.

In winning from the Cubs the Reds blasted stater Eddie Hanyzewski and relief man Paul Derringer off the mound with two big innings and then cut a Chicago rally short in the ninth.

Hanyzewski, a young right-hander from South Bend, Ind., but whose record does not indicate he ever went to Notre Dame despite his first string lineman's name, was sent to the sidelines in the five-run second inning.

Bert Haas tripled, singles by Eddie Miller and Ray Mueller, a sacrifice by Ray Starr, a safety by Lonnie Frey, a pass to Estel Crabtree and one-base blows by Eric Tipton and Steve Mesner accounted for the Reds five tallies.

In the fifth the Reds added four more runs on Crabtree's single, a sacrifice by Tipton, Mesner's single, a pair of passes and singles by Clyde Shoun and Frey.

The Cubs, who scored five runs in the third and seventh innings, got across two more in the ninth and loaded the bases before Joe Beggs forced Stann Hack to ground out.

Johnny Vander Meer will oppose Hank Wyse in today's game.

Epworth To Get Second Chance at Loop Title Monday

Epworth's Methodists will be afforded a second chance to clinch the Sunday School league crown when they play Ray Donaugh's Greenwood team at McKinley park Monday night. St. Mary's Irish will try to stay in the loop race when they meet Presbyterian at Lincoln park.

After the completion of these two tilts, only one more night, two games, will remain in church league play for the 1943 season. The season scheduled to close Monday, Aug. 16 when Little World Series competition has been set to start.

The Methodist, who were thwarted by St. Mary last Monday in their attempt to capture the crown can share the title by winning their tenth game of the year against one loss Monday night. St. Mary will have taken eight games and lost three if she is triumphant over Greenwood Monday night.

Greenwood is not expected to be too tough for the Methodists when only past engagements between the two squads are considered. Epworth has blanked the Greenies three straight times this season, 4 to 0, 6 to 0, and 31 to 0.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7 — Jack Kramer, right-handed pitcher, has been optioned by the Browns to Toledo of the American association, vice-president William O. Dewitt said yesterday. Kramer recently received a medical discharge from the Seabees. He appeared in only three games as a relief pitcher.

REYNOLDS PITCHES CLEVELAND TO 1-0 EDGE OVER BROWNS

Brilliant Freshman Pitcher Consoles Tribe Fans fo Loss of Bob Feller.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7—Allie Reynolds is providing Cleveland baseball fans with consolation for the loss of Bob Feller.

The 25-year-old Oklahoman has earned a regular starting berth with the Indians and ranks with Charley Wensloff of the Yankees and Milo Candini of Washington as the best freshman pitchers in the league.

His latest effort was a three-hitter against the St. Louis Browns last night as the Tribesmen opened a 25-game home stay with a 1 to 0 triumph.

The win was doubly satisfying for the opposing moundsman was an old Indian nemesis, Johnny Niggeling. The veteran knuckle baller allowed only two hits but a lapse of control and a single delivered on a hit and run play caused his defeat.

Niggeling had two strikes on Oris Hockett, who led off in the fourth inning, but one of his knucklers went astray and struck the Indian on the shoulder. Roy Cullenbine drove a single through short and the hit and run and Hockett dashed to third. He scored the game's only run as Jeff Heath hit into a double play.

Only two Brownies reached second base as Reynolds fashioned his second three-hitter of the year and his third shutout. The victory was his fifth against six setbacks.

The young fireballer struck out nine batters and brought his total for the year to 82. He fanned Chet Laabs, the Browns' cleanup hitter, three times.

The Indians move from the stadium to league park for the second game of the series today. Al Smith, a 10-game winner to date, opposes Steve Sundra, former Cleveland sandlotter.

Pro Grid Hunt Staged Deep in Heart of Texas

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Phil Handler, new head coach of the Chicago Cardinals in the National Professional Football League, wasted no time getting to Texas when he heard Pete Cawthon was shaking the bushes down this way for talent to fill out his Brooklyn line-up.

Pete, a Texan who coached college football in this state for years, made a quick visit and went into the deep south, leaving the implication that he found gridders plentiful.

Handler, former Texas Christian university line star, knew that if Cawthon was in Texas there were football players to be had down here. Pete's verbal observations were not necessary to tell him that.

And football players are what the Cards need—especially centers and ends.

Handler had time for a gabfest in which he was asked to name the greatest football player he had ever seen.

"Sam Baugh," Handler replied without hesitation.

"There are all kinds of answers to that one—long ones and short ones—but the one I like best," Phil explained, "is this: There's nothing to the game of football, they say, except the pass, the punt and the prayer. Sam's the greatest passer of all time, Baugh can boot that ball with the best of them. And if you think that old cowhand from Sweetwater can't pray you've never been with him in a huddle."

Clarke Still Sets Pace in Association Batting

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 — Grey Clarke, Milwaukee's slugging third baseman, maintained his batting pace with a .352 mark during the week to remain at the top of the American Association hit parade—23 points ahead of second place Chet Wieczorek of Columbus.

Wieczorek advanced from fourth to the runner-up position by boosting his average from .326 to .329, while Clarke's teammate and formerly his nearest challenger, Hershel Martin, dropped from .341 to 325 into fourth place. Augie Bergamo, another Red Bird outfielder, was third with .328.

The other top ten hitters in averages compiled through Wednesday's games were Phil Weintraub, Toledo, .316; Joe Moore, Indianapolis, .306; Tommy McBride, Louisville, .297; Stew Hofferth, Indianapolis, .294; Howie Schultz, St. Paul, .288, and Gil English, Indianapolis, .284.

Clarke relinquished his runs-batted-in lead to teammate Ted Norbert, who had driven across 68 to Clarke's 66.

INDIANS WIN, BLUES LOSE TO MAKE NEWS IN AMERICAN ASS'N.

Red Birds Break 5-Game Losing Streak with 3-1 Victory Over Brewers.

By The Associated Press

The long losing and winning strings of Indianapolis and Kansas City, respectively, were snapped last night in the American Association baseball race.

The Indians, front-runners a month ago, clanked St. Paul 5-4 to conclude a 10-game losing stump which sloshed them into third place. Otto Nitcholas gave only one base on balls, but he threw wide to third in an attempt to nail a runner and the error accounted for the winning tally.

It took the Toledo Mudhens 12 innings to dispose of the revitalized Kansas City Blues, 4-3, the Blues' first defeat in nine games. Art Keller's single, Fred Sanford's sacrifice and Len Schulte's hit accounted for the Hens' winning run.

Louisville whipped Minneapolis twice by identical 6-1 counts, and the Columbus Red Birds snapped their five-game losing streak with twin 3-1 wins over the league-leading Milwaukee Brewers.

Joe Garagiola, 17-year-old Red Bird catcher, broke a 1-1 stalemate in the eighth with a home run. In the nightcap, Columbus touched Earl Caldwell for three runs in the third inning.

BIG TEN GRIDIRON OUTLOOK CHEERING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 — Football may be in the hands of pallbearers in some parts of the country for the duration, but in the western conference, where 700 players have reported for summer practices, the coffin corner is a gridiron term.

Major John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner of athletics, said he was delighted with the general picture, declaring the game's health was being watched by the best doctors in the world —"the American public, who insists it continue: school officials, who are supporting it more than ever because of its training values; and military leaders, who are chorusing, 'send us more of those football players.'"

Major Griffith refuses to become alarmed over reports that 189 colleges in the nation have abandoned football for the duration and he estimates that more than 80 per cent of the colleges which competed in 1941 will have teams operating this fall.

Enrollment of service men with gridiron experience has made this possible. Few of the stars escaped from the Western Conference and will be competing for teams which only a year ago they were playing against.

Purdue had 161 candidates in summer drills. Michigan had 125, Ohio State, the 1942 champion, had only 38 and Illinois 30.

Special to The Star

He accepted an appointment made at a joint meeting of the vestries of the three churches which was presided over by Archdeacon Comer Lile of Cleveland.

Rev. Gayle plans to establish his residence in Galion. He was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1937 and of Bexley Hall, Kenyon college, Gambier, in 1940. He has served as a missionary in Nevada.

Last June he completed a tour of Philadelphia and Brooklyn when he spoke on behalf of the Episcopal church's missionary program in inter-mountain areas of the far west.

He succeeds Rev. Robert F. McGregor, who leaves Aug. 15 to take over the parish of Christ Episcopal church at Oberlin.

Rough, Weedy Diamonds Awa City, District Softball Event

CHARLES ELLIOTT

Any city softball games this season could have been the setting for this inexcusable occurrence. A fairly hard hit ball went to the shortstop, who could have fielded the grounder with ease under ordinary circumstances and conditions. However, just as the player was approaching the ball in question it took a weird bounce after striking a large bump in the infield and caromed the bewildered shortstop into left field. The runner was on first before the fielder was even able to pick up the ball.

[illegible] could have happened in the same softball game. The batter lined a ball into the outfield. The drive passed the left fielder to run rapidly into left center. The ball fell safely and it looked like a double for the batter. However, when the fielder reached the spot where he thought the ball had stopped after rolling through the dense outfield jungle, there was no ball. The batter scored with no apparent effort before the ball could even be located by the fielder.

Illustrate Problem

These are only two of many sad instances of local softball this summer. The one and only reason for such unpredictable courses which a softball often takes nowadays is the deplorable condition of two of the three city's softball diamonds and the relatively deteriorated state of a third.

Numerous softball players, fans, and officials have at one time or another complained of the "lousy" condition of Marion's ball fields. However, because these same complainants have not been certain to whom they should explain their grievances, no effective appeals for improvement in diamonds have been made.

Something should be done within the next few days, however, with the Little World Series and the district softball tournament to get under way in a week. Out-of-town teams, accustomed to smooth infields and outfields with grass at shoe-bottom level, may refuse to play on at least two of the city's three ball diamonds.

Worst Fields

Those two fields are at McKinley and Garfield parks. The Lincoln park layout has been worked on more than the other two fields this summer but not nearly to the extent it should have been. Three or four years ago the North Side diamond was considered a first-class field, fit for any ball club to play on. Now, neglect has caused deterioration in the general condition of the Lincoln park field.

As all Little World Series tilts and most of the district tourney games will be played at Lincoln, it should be improved, and without delay.

Some of the preliminary tournament games might be played on the McKinley and Garfield weed patches. Softball officials are practically certain no district teams will agree to play on either of those two fields.

The infields of McKinley and Garfield parks have as many bumps as a mountain range, or so it seems to local softball players. As has been mentioned previously, even slow infield rollers are dangerous packages for even the most proficient fielders to handle now. The best plan to follow, infielders say when they are playing at McKinley or Garfield, is to stand aside when a bounder comes on its rugged way and do your best to reach for the ball.

Lost Balls

In many cases this summer long outfield clouts have resulted in temporarily and sometimes permanently lost balls. After the first several games this year when it became evident that no one was going to do [illegible] fixing up the ball [illegible] special ground rules were established to the effect that [illegible] lost in the outfield would [illegible] rant the batter only [illegible]

Another plague of outfields [illegible] McKinley and Garfield parks has been the tremendous [illegible] of outfield swats by the unshaved grass. Many [illegible] on a line to the outfield [illegible] taken seemingly a half [illegible] reach disgusted outfielders [illegible] that time the batter has rounded first and streaked [illegible] ond or third on belts [illegible] not worth more than one [illegible]

Some softball officials [illegible] the responsibility of keeping the diamonds is that of the [illegible] formed recreation commission. Others think it rests with the park commission.

Perhaps both of these groups should join hands in necessary repair work.

People upon whom the blame of the condition of the fields pinned might retort with feasible bit of logic that there a labor shortage and no [illegible] available to help fix up the [illegible] monds. Again the fans are told there is a park director and assistant director at each of the three parks who could [illegible] supervise face-lifting work on ball fields.

Possible Sources of Help

Don't be a bit surprised if softball players themselves [illegible] be willing to donate a few [illegible] in working on the diamonds. In addition, some children [illegible] parks each day could also provide a source of labor, [illegible] for the lighter tasks.

Equipment to cut the [illegible] grass in all three parks can be found at Lincoln park, where a stand. Dragging machinery [illegible] the infield leveling could probably be obtained from a local [illegible] for a not unreasonable [illegible] fee.

Maybe it's a little late now [illegible] do anything about fixing up park ball fields. Maybe it's [illegible] If the work is done before the Series and the tournament, the rank of Marion as an active softball town might be considerably upped if the out-of-town players see well-kept ball fields awaiting them.

If the remodeling work were done now, the softball committee would have more to start with when next season rolls around. There would be increased interest right off the bat if fans knew there will be good fields and consequently an upswing in the brand of softball played.

JANE SHIRLEY has the leading feminine role in "Bombardier," which opens today at the Palace theater, and is the cause of friendly rivalry between the two male stars, Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott.

"Bombardier," Featuring Trio of Stars, on Palace Program

Famous Norden Bombsight and Its History Figures in War-time Drama Opening Sunday.

"Bombardier" starring Pat O'Brien, Randolph Scott and Anne Shirley will start at the Palace theater Sunday and continue through Tuesday.

The film brings to the screen for the first time the "inside story" of America's secret weapon, the Norden bombsight, and how it came to adopt it.

A friendly professional rivalry between the two stars and a love-tinged romance are additional features of the story, which opens in Washington and ends in Tokyo, but which has most of the action at the bombardier school in New Mexico.

Leaders in Contest

O'Brien plays the part of Major Davis, a strong advocate of high-level bombing with the newly-developed bombsight, while Scott is cast as Captain Oliver, whose observations of Stukas in Europe have convinced him that dive-bombing is the only thing. A contest results in Davis being authorized to train bombardiers to use the secret sight at a special school.

After Pearl Harbor the chance of proving his predictions comes to Davis when he is sent to the area to command a bombing squadron. One the big raid over Tokyo, Oliver, who has been sent ahead to drop incendiaries to light the targets, is shot down and captured with his crew. How he carries out his mission under the threat of Jap bayonets forms the climax of the story.

Anne Shirley is cast as Davis' secretary and has the feminine lead.

Double Attraction.

"Assignment in Brittany," starring Pierre Aumont and Susan Peters and "Follow the Band," featuring Frances Langford and other radio personalities, will be shown Wednesday through Friday.

The first of this double feature is the story of an adventure and the heroism of the Commandos. Aumont plays a dual role as British spy and French poilu.

The plot for "Follow the Band" was taken from a magazine story and deals humorously with the plight of an amateur trombone virtuoso from the country who, through a fluke, plunges headlong into fame and fortune on Broadway.

News and selected short subjects complete the bill for each picture.

"Du Barry Was a Lady" will open Saturday.

"Musical Scorchers" on Cedar Point Bill

Sonny Dunham, trumpet and trombone stylist, will bring his "Musical Scorchers," to Cedar Point-on-Lake-Erie, Aug. 13 to 19. The double feature music man brings with him as vocalist Dorothy Claire.

Dunham, who celebrated his 30th birthday June 1, is an exclusive Bluebird recording artist whose orchestra is one of the most talked of bands on the college campuses.

2 More Ohioans With Red Cross Abroad

By The Associated Press

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Aug. 7—Eastern area headquarters of the American Red Cross announced today the arrival of 46 workers in the Middle East to augment the Red Cross staff now operating in that war theater.

New arrivals included Willard E. DeCamp, Mansfield, O., club director; Harry G. Dotson, Ashland, O., assistant field director.

Ohio Soldiers Listed As Killed in Action

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—The war department today announced the names of six Ohio soldiers killed in action.

They included:

Killed in action in the European area: Staff Sgt. Joseph O. Wing, Mechanicsburg; killed in action in the North African area: Sgt. Thomas F. Shannon, Wellsville.

The city of Los Angeles was founded in 1781 by a small band of Spanish colonists.

Musical On Ohio Screen

Film Play Stars Lena Horne, Bill Robinson and Cab Calloway.

Now playing for seven days at the Ohio theater is "Stormy Weather," starring Lena Horne, Bill Robinson and Cab Calloway.

"Stormy Weather" is the story of swing on the upbeat—from the era of jazz, ragtime and blues to the present day. The film covers the period right after the last war up to the present day and sets the stage for the musical numbers by ingenious use of the flashback device.

Lena Horne, who burst on the show world last year, handles most of the vocalizing. Bill Robinson continues to be one of the best tap dancers and Cab Calloway, renowned for his band's music as well as his own singing, fulfills his aim of making toes jingle.

A special "March of Time" feature will be shown with "Stormy Weather." The film shows the result of an experiment conducted in a war factory by Bill Jack, one of the owners of the Cleveland firm of Jack and Heintz. It shows a defense plant with no strikes and no time clocks. A money-making company where men and women workers get free meals, insurance, health care, vacations with expenses paid — and break all records for war production.

Starting Friday and continuing through Thursday is the "Constant Nymph" with a cast headed by Charles Boyer and Joan Fontaine.

The film offers Miss Fontaine the chance to again play the part of a shy young woman. Her problem is centered about her love for Charles Boyer, a composer, who falls in love with and marries Alexis Smith.

Joan Fonatine is cast as a member of a musician's unruly family, raised in a remote Alpine chalet. She is in love with the composer, Charles Boyer, but another woman intervenes, Alexis Smith.

Forest School Corps Completed for Year

Special to The Star

FOREST — The Forest-Jackson schools will open the 1943 school year Sept. 7. The schools will operate on Eastern war time until Oct. 1 when the schedule will be on Central war time.

Kathryn Young has been employed to teach vocational home economics, replacing Evelyn Curliss, resigned. Robert Meade, former teacher in the Woodville schools will replace D. L. Martin, who resigned to accept a non-school position. Clinton Pine, superintendent of the Roundhead schools for the past several years, will teach science in the local high school this year. He replaced Harriett Wilson, resigned. Georgia Moore Kellogg has been employed to teach the second grade. Marcella Ickes the regular second grade teacher will have charge of the first grade. This change was caused by the resignation of Gladys Kendall, first grade teacher. D. Ray Baum, who taught last year in Kenton High school, has accepted the job of principal and coach of the local school. Jack Palmer resigned to accept a civil service position. This completes the faculty of the Forest-Jackson schools.

Simpson.

THE CAREFREE SPIRIT of the musical, "Stormy Weather," now playing at the Ohio theater, is captured by an artist in this scene from the film.

State Theater To Show Comedy Film Sunday, Monday

"Between Us Girls," starring Diana Barrymore and Robert Cummings, and "Heart of the Golden West," with Roy Rogers will be billed at the State theater Sunday and Monday.

The comedy, "Between Us Girls," tells of a young stage star who masquerades as a 12-year-old tomboy to help her beautiful mother win the man she loves. Complications arise when the 12-year-old also falls in love and finds herself in deeper difficulties, while attempting to prove she is a full grown woman instead of a child.

Patric Knowles and Marie Montez in "Mystery of Marie Roget" and "The Lone Prairie" starring Russell Hayden will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Night Monster" starring Irene Hervey and Bela Lugosi and "Devil's Trail" with Bill Elliott and Tex Ritter will start Thursday and continue through Saturday.

CARE IN HANDLING ANIMALS IS URGED

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 — Reasonable care in the handling of animals will save millions of pounds of much-needed meat, Dr. K. W. Stouder, veterinarian of Iowa State College, Ames, Ia., asserted today.

Stouder said a total of 140,000,000 pounds of meat was lost in federally inspected packing plants in 1941, the last year for which such figures are available, because of preventable mishandling of animals.

An average of 2 pounds of pork was lost in trimming of bruises from each of the 46,519,000 hogs killed under federal inspection during that year, Stouder said. In beef, such loss was 3 pounds per animal on 10,946,000 cattle.

The estimated loss of veal was 5,461,000 pounds and for sheep approximately 9,000,000 pounds.

"Livestock in transit," Stouder said, "frequently is damaged due to improper loading facilities, lack of strong partitions in mixed shipments, poor footing, bulls loose in trucks and careless driving.

"Overcrowding in trucks or cars, inadequate bedding, lifting sheep by the wool and poor unloading facilities at stockyards all take their toll."

CORN JAM BROKEN; GRAIN FLOWS FREELY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 7—The log-jam which had kept corn stored on farms during a period when it was vitally needed in war production appeared to be broken, grain dealers said today.

Corn processors forced to close down their planis temporarily in late June because of the dearth of yellow grain, have obtained about one million bushels so far this week—more than they were able to purchase in June and July combined.

Offerings of the nation's most important grain were being made by farmers throughout the mid-west, and processors were storing up supplies by purchases at OPA ceiling prices. These processors turn corn into products used in the manufacture of steel, explosives, paper and other goods utilized by war industries.

In back of the sudden flow of corn, which has expanded each day this week, was a government guarantee that farmers who marketed their grain up to Aug. 11 would share in any increase which might be made in price ceilings before Oct. 31.

An equally important reason for the willingness of farmers to sell, grain men said, was the splendid development of this year's crop. Planted late because of a wet spring, corn has practically caught up in its growth and crop experts asserted that within another week the grain will be largely out of danger of drouth and heat damage.

Private crop reports on the condition of corn on Aug. 1 showed a substantial gain in the outlook from the preceding month. One forecast estimated production at 2,651,000,000 bushels compared with the department of agriculture's July 1 forecast of 2,708,000,000 bushels.

Purchases here so far this week were 937,000 bushels. In June purchases amounted to 153,000 bushels, and in July 550,000 bushels.

GRAIN PRICES SINK IN QUIET MARKET

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 — Grains slumped in a quiet market today, the downturn being attributed more to a lack of buying orders than any aggressive pressure to sell. Commission houses were on the selling side.

With the country offering corn more freely, there was a tendency to liquidate feed grains. Both oats and rye weakened. Corn purchases on a "to arrive" basis today totaled 450,000 bushels, bringing the total for the week to around 1,500,000 bushels.

COMMANDO GROUND

GLENWOOD, WASH.—Cruising timber in the Glenwood area would be good training for prospective commandos, in the opinion of Dr. D. G. Marckworth, head of the University of Washington College of Forestry. Dr. Marckworth recently completed six weeks of cruising and mapping timber holdings with advanced forestry students as the final class work of the school year. "Scaling these canyon walls is the best pre-military training I know of," Prof. Marckworth said.

Devises Universal Alphabet

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—Using 41 novel symbols and holding 14 others in reserve, former U. S. Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma has developed a "global alphabet" he thinks capable of breaking down the world's language barriers.

"Through it I can teach any reasonably intelligent man Chinese in two months," he enthused. "It is a means by which we can teach the English language to all the world at high sped and negligible cost. It will pay its own way."

Although at first glance Owen's alphabet appears to resemble some shorthand systems, he said it is entirely different. His is based on 18 vowel sounds, 18 consonants and five double consonants—"ch," "sh," "th," "ng" and "wh." The 41 regular letters are little hooks and wiggles and slashes and curves.

In case it develops that Tibetan or Urdu or some other tongue contains sounds not capable of expression by the 41, Owen has 16 orthographic subsitutes warming the bench. In general, they are angular or triangular in form.

Owen at 87 is blind—a handicap he scoffs at.

"I just dictated them to my secretary, by metes and bounds," he explained. "In my mind, I would picture a square, and describe to her how the character should fit into its limits."

("Metes and bounds" is a surveyor's term, used to describe the outlines of an enclosure.)

A former Indian agent for the five civilized tribes in Oklahoma, Owen was inspired by Chief Sequoia, who in 1828 invented an 85-character alphabet which enabled his Cherokee tribesmen to learn in two or three weeks to write their own language.

As for English, a few simple waggles of the pen and there was: "I saw Esau kiss Miss Kate. The fact is we all three saw, I saw Esau, he saw me, and she saw I saw Esau."

Owen said his shorter, phonetic word forms would save paper, ink and postage, that spelling no longer would be a problem and that "the use of this system with its defined pronunciation would have a tendency to end or limit brogues and dialects."

But in announcing that the copyrighted system would be "my free gift to the world," the former senator stressed this:

"The global alphabet comprises a mechanical agency through which to make effective the dreams of the great men now leading the people of the United Nations in a struggle for peace, abundance, goodwill, justice and happiness. The four freedoms, the Atlantic charter, the twentieth century economic policy adopted by the London chamber of commerce could be quickly put before the world."

Seattle-Owned Dog Turns Up in Chicago

By International News Service

SEATTLE—Inky, an adventurous, black dog owned by O. W. Heskett of Seattle, recently turned up in Chicago. It is presumed he invited himself into some passing automobile for the journey.

Three weeks after Inky disappeared, the Chicago Anti-Cruelty society notified the Kings county Humane society that the dog was with them. The Hesketts promptly wired money for his express trip home in a crate.

The trip to Chicago is only the climax to Inky's wanderings. Last winter he was located in the tailor shop at Fort Lawton, where he had been drilling with the boys for three days. Since then he has been picked up in West Seattle and other parts of the city.

Inky came to the Hesketts three years ago, when he followed a daughter home. At the time, the Hesketts learned later, he was mourning the entrance of his former owner into the armed forces. He still goes over to that household on visits, sometimes staying several days.

"The boy who had Inky before us said he was in the dog pound so much he was going to have a special rate," John Heskett explained.

STOCK BUYING INTEREST SAGS

One of Slowest Short Days of Year Turned in with Sales at 300,000.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—Buying interest in today's stock market evaporated before and most leaders in the key groups lost a little more ground.

It was one of the slowest two-hour days of the year with volume around 300,000 shares.

A few pivotal issues, including American Telephone, Westinghouse, Southern Pacific and U. S. Steel, showed some resistance and were slightly ahead most of the time.

Such stocks as Chrysler, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott, American Can, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central and Baltimore & Ohio entered the final lap carrying minus signs.

GRAIN OUTLOOK GETS BRIGHTER, IN JULY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 7—With the government crop report due early next week, grain traders today were interested in a private forecast by C. M. Galvin of James E. Bennett and Co., which showed a general improvement in conditions during July.

The Bennett forecast was made on the basis of 3,500 card questionnaires sent grain dealers, country elevator operators and millers in the producing area.

Spring wheat was placed by Galvin at 308,000,000 bushels, compared with 272,000,000 bushels in the July 1 government forecast, and all wheat was estimated 830,000,000 bushels against the government's forecast of 791,000,000 bushels.

Galvin forecast corn at 2,851,000,000 bushels against a government estimate of 2,708,000,000 bushels. "Corn made good progress during July," Galvin said, "and high temperatures through the central states were beneficial to growth, but caused some deterioration in the southwest states to late planted grain.

"The crop is in various stages of growth but, considering its belated start, has caught up rapidly and color is generally good, although there is complaint regarding poor stands in some localities."

The oats crop was placed by Galvin at 1,234,000,000 bushels, against 1,242,000,000 bushels forecast by the government, and rye at 36,000,000 bushels against 33,500,000 bushels in the government estimate.

Wheat closed Friday ¾-1⅛ higher than last Saturday, oats were up ⅛-⅜ and rye gained ⅛-1¼.

CAMP POLK, LA.—Camp Polk boasts a private, Harold N. Fischer of New York City, who can beat 22 checker players and five chess players at one time. "It really isn't hard unless I meet someone with professional ability," the 42-year-old three-time champion explained. "The untrained checker or chess player plans only a move at a time. By thinking only two or three ahead, the professional, who regularly plans 10 or 15 moves in advance, can take on as many as 50 amateurs."

CRIME TRACED TO HOME

By International News Service

DENVER — Juvenile Judge Phillip Gilliam, active in combating Denver's recent increase in juvenile delinquency recently urged wider education in problems of social hygiene, declaring that a large percentage of delinquency could be traced to the home and family life. Judge Gilliam, speaking at a meeting of the Denver public health council said: "Once we wipe out social disease and its effect on family life, the problems of boys and girls running wild will be much easier to handle."

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"WHOA!" Dicky bade me with a teasing smile. "Rein in the ponies!"

"Did you see her go down?" I asked, banally enough, and was properly abashed at his answer.

"Not having a peri cope, and not being otherwise equipped to look around corners, I did not," he returned. "But I heard you coming clippety-clip, across the corridor, and knew that you would never have risked making even that slight noise if the Wilderness Woman had still been on the floor."

"I wonder if Olina has arrived," I said next, conscious that I was being inexcusably jittery, but finding it impossible to keep the query back.

Takes Madge in Hand

He shot a keen glance at me, and put both his hands on my shoulders.

"Pull yourself together!" he commanded. "Everything's going all right so far. It's a bad pipe dream that dame didn't suspect anything, or I would have had to dash to your rescue to keep her from chewing you into bits.

"I'll know the minute Olina crosses the threshold of the hotel," he went on. "My listening post near the door will phone me up here. Then I'll summon the guards on this floor to their battle stations, just behind the slightly opened doors of their rooms. I'll be behind this one, and the guard who comes up with Olina and Ruth —incognito, of course—will go straight to 1722, unlock the door with his key, go in and shut the door again. A second later he'll open it again, the merest crack, so as to be ready for any emergency.

Must Be In Evidence

"But you're the one who will have to be on your toes first," he said. "You are the only one who can be in evidence, and you must be in the hall near Ruth Hayes' door when she and Olina come up to it, so that Olina can see you and know you're at hand.

"Then I'd advise you to skitter into that 'Exit' alcove," he continued. "Ruth won't pay any attention to you. She's so accustomed to native servants, down in the wilderness, who are only a few degrees removed from monkeys, that she underestimates the ones she finds up here. You'll be able to listen with all your ears for any outcry of Olina's. You don't think the girl will be so treacherous, if Ruth does tackle her, that she'll be afraid to yell 'Maid!' as Dad told her?"

"I can't imagine Olina being really frightened at anything Ruth Hayes could do here in the open," I said.

The Telephone Rings

"Exactly," I answered, and then started toward the door as the telephone pealed.

"Wait!" Dicky said over his shoulder as he headed for the instrument. "You'll have time enough."

I stopped and waited tensely, while he took down the receiver. "Speaking," he said laconically in answer. I surmised to the inquiring utterance of his name at the other end of the wire. "Okay. I understand. We'll be ready up here, from now on."

He put up the receiver, and turned to me.

"Olina just came in, and is on her way to the spot where Ruth Hayes is waiting for her," he said. "Stand here just a second."

He stepped into the hall, raised a small whistle to his lips, and blew upon it faintly, yet audibly.

At the signal, three stalwart men appeared at the doors of the rooms to which they had been assigned.

Gives the Word

"Coming up," Dicky said tersely. "Get back, and keep on your toes."

They obeyed him without comment, and then my husband took me by the shoulders again.

"Remember one thing," he said. "If Olina does yell 'Maid!' don't give any faintest hint that you know what is really up. Just rush up and ask her if she feels sick, or what's the matter? You can bet Ruth will have an alibi ready, and if Olina is as self-possessed as you think she is, she won't give anything away."

"I'm sure Father must have coached her on all the possibilities," I said.

The Stars Say—

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, Aug. 8

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds auguries of a particularly lively and active day although this movement may be indicted in a reign of both public and private indulgence and extravagances. Matters held within bound of reason and good sense should flourish but other trends may prove disastrous.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a lively and successful year, with enterprise, initiative and cleverness flourishing to a high degree. Particularly are new propositions and projects of importance encouraged. On the other hand there may be a menace through too expansive ideas or ambition or in an over-extravagant tendency, with personal and private lavishness.

A child born on this day may be energetic, clever, aggressive and ambitious, but it may defeat itself by exaggerated ideas.

For Monday, Aug. 9

Mondays astrological forecast is for a day of business and personal contacts that call for extreme caution, self-control and patience, lest there be severe penalties for impetuosity, arrogance, loss of temper and other impulsive or reckless emotions and behavior. Employers or others in power are to be treated with due respect and restraint lest position be jeopardized. Physical safety must also be safeguarded. Personal relations, social or affectionally, may offer recompense.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a successful, progressive and happy year, if they determine to put the brakes rigidly on impulses and emotions. Under the high tempo of attaining desired objectives there might be danger of excitement, loss of control, of tongue and temper, inciting want of cooperation from superiors or employers, to disastrous degree. The personal safety should also be protected. Social and sentimental associations may be compensatory.

A child born on this day may have a really kindly and well-intentioned nature, but may invite loss and regret through want of self-restraint and discipline.

have deleterious effects on the heart."

Life insurance companies and various heart associations are forever deluging me with appeals to say something about the prevention of heart disease. Well, now the causes of heart disease are in 90 per cent of cases rheumatic fever and hardening of the arteries. And now in the name of heaven how are we going to advise people how to prevent a disease the cause of which you don't know, the means of spread of which we don't know, nor have the faintest idea about, and even which we cannot always with certainty recognize in all cases in the early stages. I simply am at a loss to answer.

But on the basis of what is said about athlete's heart is it fair to say, "You who have a small abnormality of your heart should not swim, golf, ride, swim, play games, bowl, or do anything but sit in a chair." As a matter of fact, athletics may improve his heart. A case in instance is taken as follows from a medical magazine:

"Yale athlete. One of the earliest crew and football men, aged 80 years. Cardiac area 49.6 per cent plus deviation. (This means somewhat enlarged.) Increased heart size is explainable as a result of disease plus sport factors. Although his heart was organically enlarged, his general constitutional strength made possible a long and useful life. Pneumonia was the cause of death."

The only thing I know of to do in the prevention of heart disease is to give a child (or anyone else) the benefit of a prolonged convalescence from acute rheumatic fever, or as it is sometimes called, inflammatory rheumatism. It is the greatest heart damager (except old age) there is.

After a child has had the fever and it has subsided and all the swollen joints have calmed down, I think the child should have at least three months in bed, and three to six months of limited activity. After that do not try to limit activity. If activity is really hurting a person's heart he will know by two symptoms—pain and shortness of breath.

Athletics and Heart

SOME PEOPLE may become unduly puzzled by the remarks I made yesterday in relation to athlete's heart. I stated that there was no such thing as athlete's heart in the sense that exercise, even prolonged and straining exercise permanently damaged a heart. And also that many athletes went through their most gruelling contests with hearts damaged and abnormal from disease and received no harm from it.

To support this one can quote from so eminent an authority as the late Sir Thomas Lewis, generally acknowledged to be the supreme authority in England on the heart. "Burdens imposed by physiological acts upon the normal heart, HOWEVER HEAVY THESE BURDENS (caps mine, L. C.) never injure heart fibers, never produce injurious dilation, never exhaust the heart's reserve."

I personally entirely agree with this, but everyone doesn't. Louis I. Dublin, who manages the statistical department of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, writes: "Indulgence in athletics may in a good many instances

THAT BUNGALOW THE BOSS BOUGHT NEXT TO MINE--HE HAD THE HOUSE MOVED TO A LOT IN ANOTHER NEIGHBORHOOD!
NOW, I'M SURE GLAD YOU DIDN'T RENT THE HOUSE, COLONEL HOOFER! BOY, I'D HATE TO HAVE YOU FOR A NEXT-DOOR NEIGHBOR
CASPER, THAT'S MUTUAL!
EVERYTHING TURNED OUT JUST FINE, CASPER--IT SHOWS YOU THAT MOST OF THE THINGS WE WORRY ABOUT NEVER HAPPEN!
THAT LOT SURE IS AN EYE SORE WITHOUT A HOUSE ON IT, TOOTS!
I KNOW WHAT I'LL TURN IT INTO A VICTORY GARDEN! I'M A BORN EXECUTIVE! I'LL DO THE BOSSING, LET COLONEL HOOFER DO THE WORK AND WE SHARE THE CROPS FIFTY-FIFTY!
